PARTIES JOIN HANDS ON AID FOR FARMERS

Democrats Preparing to Co-operate With G. O. P. in Framing Measure
SEE NEED FOR RELIEF
Sentiment Most Favorable in Four Years but Fee Will Be Omitted

Washington—With assurance that there will be some agricultural legislation at either this or the special session of congress, Democrats are preparing to cooperate with the Republicans in framing a measure to handle the export surplus problem.
Whatever else the last campaign may have accomplished it did serve to accentuate the need for an agricultural program and the leaders here know that President-Elect Hoover is firm in his determination to carry through on this campaign pledge if congress does not dispose of it in this session.
The process by which agricultural legislation has been forced into the situation as it is today, is another interesting example of herring withing. George N. Peek who was responsible for the McNary-Haugen agitation and who was behind the demonstrations made at the Kansas City convention, went over to the Democratic side after getting the Houston convention to accept a platform plank which he wrote. Then he organized the farmers during the campaign. What his work meant in actual votes can not be estimated but it had its effect in the regions where senators and representatives now are aware of the sentiment that has been developed. In other words, the agitation did not affect the presidential election but undiminished, may affect the complexion of the next congress. The Anti-Saloon league was the first organization to array its forces so that it could wield a club over both parties and this was followed by the agricultural bloc, which, however, was a legislative group and did not have back of it the combined efforts of the farm organizations because they themselves could not agree on a plan.

MOVES TO RESTORE RIGHTS TO 1,500

Berger Introduces Resolution for Those Condemned During Wartime
Washington—(AP)—A resolution to restore the rights of citizenship to approximately 1,500 men and women who were convicted under the wartime espionage act for utterances disapproving the war was introduced Wednesday by Representative Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin. Berger himself was convicted five times on charges growing out of alleged acts of disloyalty during the war and was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary by former Judge Kenesaw M. Landis in Chicago. The verdict was later reversed by the supreme court.
His measure would request the president to proclaim a full pardon and amnesty with restoration of civil rights to all persons, who, during the war "were convicted of utterances in speech or writing deemed to be prejudicial to the conduct of the war, or of conspiracies to violate war laws in which no acts of violence were involved."
Berger said not one of the 1,500 men and women convicted had committed an act of violence. He added that the measure would not amnesty followed the Civil war and he proposed another should follow the World war.

STATE COMMERCE GROUP TO BE ORGANIZED JAN. 23

Milwaukee—(AP)—More than 300 men representing industry, commerce and agriculture, will meet in Milwaukee, Jan. 23 to organize a state association of commerce.
The date for the meeting was decided on Tuesday at a conference of seven members of a special committee which drafted a tentative constitution and drew up by-laws for the proposed organization.
Under tentative plans, the organization will have 30 directors from five geographical districts of the state, six to come from each district. There will be a general president and a vice president from each of the districts.

Scant Hope For Six In Mine Tomb

Rescue Crews Working to Clear Away Debris After Blast in Kentucky
Drakesboro, Ky.—(AP)—Volunteer rescue crews were struggling to clear away an avalanche of rock and debris deep in the coal mine of the Black Diamond company early Wednesday to reach six men entombed following an explosion Tuesday night but scant hope was felt that the imprisoned men will be found alive.
An accurate estimate of the amount of the debris imprisoning the miners was difficult and most sanguine among the rescuers did not expect to reach the miners before 7 o'clock. Many others felt the task would not be accomplished before noon.
A portion of the mine ceiling gave way about 7:30 Tuesday night and in crashing is believed to have set off gas in a pocket of the mine, followed by an extensive collapse of debris which closed the passage.
Eight men were working near the point where the blast occurred. Homer Hanson and another miner named Davidson were about 500 feet from the others and reached the surface uninjured. The blast occurred between the two working groups, at a point about 4,000 feet from the entry.
The imprisoned are Cleveland Bolin and Vermont Nelson, machine cutters; Roy Ewell, Motorman; James Sullivan, night foreman and inspector; Arthur Davis and Leonard Epley, coal diggers.
S. A. Green, assistant district mine inspector, arrived at the mine a few minutes after the blast and with W. W. Bridges, received for the Black Diamond company, organized the rescue crews.

14 ARRESTED DURING RAID BY DRY AGENTS

Federal Men Seize Large Alcohol Plant on Farm Near Oconomowoc
Milwaukee—(AP)—After weeks of observation, the federal prohibition force raided the F. E. Starnes farm on the Silver Lake-rd. near Oconomowoc Tuesday night, arresting 14 men, three of whom were routed out of a basement with tear gas, and seizing a pretentious alcohol cutting plant.
Thirteen men were arrested on the farm Tuesday night and Starnes, Oconomowoc real estate operator and owner of the farm, was taken into custody Wednesday morning. All were to have a hearing Wednesday before Court Commissioner Harry Kellogg on charges of violating the Volstead act.
The raiders, led personally by W. Frank Cunningham, prohibition director in the Eastern Wisconsin district, found machinery and other paraphernalia in the two barns on the place. They housed three stills one with a capacity of 5,000 gallons and two 600 gallon outfits. Seven mash vats with capacities of 10,000 gallons each were in the larger barn. Thousands of dollars worth of supplies were found including 1,200 cans and a ton and a half of corn sugar. Agents said 5,500 gallons of high grade alcohol was discovered.
SOURCE OF SUPPLY
Surrounding the premises, after weeks of waiting had convinced Cunningham that the farm was one of the principal sources of supply for Milwaukee and Chicago alcohol dealers, the agents arrested four men as they came on the place, apparently to work on the night shift. Three men were found hiding in a sub-basement of an outlying shed, and when they refused to surrender, agents fired tear gas bullets through the door of the building. This routed the men. They came out, half blinded by the fumes.
As the agents were making the roundup, two trucks accompanied by a convey arrived and four men were taken into custody. Later Joseph Pessin, now under indictment in connection with an alcohol cutting plant in Milwaukee, and Ben Wolfson, also of Milwaukee, came to the farm. They also were arrested.
The other men gave their names as Harry Smith, Frank Sikera, George Tucker, John Convent, Frank Rock, James Marly, Frank Nardi, Richard Smith, John Baker, Arthur Schuyler, and Frank Yarle.

CONFERENCE WORKS OVER BORDER ROW

Bolivian-Paraguayan War Clouds Apparently Are "Blowing Over"
Washington—(AP)—The Pan-American conference special committee on the Bolivian-Paraguayan dispute met Wednesday to consider means of reconciling the two nations.
It was expected that should the committee be able at once to agree upon a plan of action, a plenary session would be called for late afternoon to ratify its proposal.
PEACE IN SIGHT
Washington—(AP)—In the balance since Dec. 6, the Bolivian-Paraguayan row will apparently end in a victory for peace. Both nations have announced that they are willing for the Pan-American conference to mediate their differences.
Only last Saturday it appeared that war was inevitable. But the clash then lasted only a short time. Renewed pressure was brought to bear on Bolivia and Paraguay by outside agencies and nations. First Paraguay sent word to the conference here that she was ready for mediation. Bolivia followed Tuesday with a similar reply.
Enrollment of troops in Paraguay goes on, however. This warlike preparation is regarded in part as an outlet for the popular feeling caused by the quarrel. Bolivia announced Tuesday that her troops had been ordered to stop their advance into the Gran Chaco region which is claimed by both her and Paraguay.
Even before the second and last armed clash, Paraguay had signified her willingness for arbitration. Bolivia had insisted on "moral reparation" from Paraguay but this demand was not mentioned in her note according to the good offices of the conference.
POPE ASKS PEACE
Rome—(AP)—A letter which Pope Pius sent to the presidents of Bolivia and Paraguay in connection with his recent efforts looking toward a peaceful solution of their border dispute was made public Wednesday.

BIRD CAGE HURLED 75 FEET IN BLAST—CANARY IS UNHURT

Milwaukee—(AP)—Two persons were burned when an explosion, followed by fire, destroyed the home of Fred Beyersdorf late Tuesday. Mrs. Beyersdorf and her son, Lester, 18, were burned about the hands and face. The loss to the home is estimated at about $15,000.
Gas escaping from a faulty connection is believed to have been ignited and thus causing the explosion. Furniture was blown from the home and a large mirror was found some distance from the house, unbroken. A canary bird and its cage were hurled 75 feet, but the bird was unhurt.

Holdup Was 'Framed'; 5 Men Nabbed

Theatre Night Watchman Confesses and Implicates His Companions
Kenosha—(AP)—Police announced Wednesday that Alexander Dotz, night watchman at the Kenosha theatre which was robbed of $1,022 in cash had confessed that the robbery was a "frameup" and implicated four other men, all of whom were under arrest.
The confession also revealed, police said, that Dotz's brother, a special policeman, had watched the robbery from the balcony of the theatre, planning to trap the men, but instead lost his nerve and allowed them to get away.
Dotz, 20, Martin, 40, proprietor of a roadhouse where Dotz's confession said the job was planned the day before it took place; Joe Tarrello, 20, and Victor Carbellin, 29, Racine, were under arrest here. The fifth man, Angelo Tarrello, 35, was arrested by Chicago police.
Tarrello was held at the Chicago detective bureau after he refused to waive extradition. Plans were being made here to request extradition papers at once.
Police said Martin had $548.40 in his pockets when arrested just as he was getting his car, preparing, they believe, to make a getaway.
Dotz's confession said he told his brother David, 26, about the plans for the robbery in which, in addition to the $1,022, a total of $710 worth of theatre ticket books were taken at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.
The robbery took place early Tuesday. The men told Dotz to a chair where he was found by his wife when she came down to clean up the theatre at 5:45 Tuesday morning. Dotz in his confession to police said his brother watched the robbery from the balcony but did nothing to stop it. A few hours after the men left, his confession read, the brother came back to see how he was getting along.
Tarrello, police believed, was the leader in the robbery. The four men held here were charged with being accessories. Police had not determined what action to take against Dotz's policeman-brother who joined the force a few months ago as a member of the special police group hired to aid in curbing disorder here.

156-FOOT DREDGE IS LAUNCHED ON LAKE

Manitowoc—(AP)—A 156-foot all steel Diesel electric dipper dredge, built for the Great Lake Dredge and Dock company, Chicago, was launched here Tuesday. The dredge is one of the largest of the kind on the lakes.
Milwaukee—(AP)—An aged mother Wednesday was on her way home from Grafton to visit a man who claims to be her son and who was believed drowned 20 years ago.
The mother is Mrs. Elizabeth Lederer, 80, twenty years ago she mourned the death of a 12-year-old son, Fritz. A boy thought to be Fritz Lederer, drowned in the Chippewa river near Chippewa Falls in 1908. The body was recovered and buried by the family.
Tuesday, a man of 37 who claims to be Fritz Lederer, appeared. He is working as a mechanic here and was taken to the police station while his family makes an investigation to determine whether he is actually Fritz Lederer.
Lederer told police the story of his disappearance but later was inclined to doubt him. He said that while visiting relatives at Chippewa Falls, he and a young Indian boy went swimming and that the latter drowned. It was the Indian boy,

Says He's Boy Believed Drowned Score Years Ago

Milwaukee—(AP)—An investigation of surely bond writing by public officials as well as "fancy violations of law" by a grand jury was requested of Judge George A. Shaughnessy by the county board Tuesday afternoon.
The board's action is an outgrowth of the John Doe proceedings held last July by Judge Pace who found that public officials were writing surety bonds for contractors on public work.
Lederer's identity became known to himself, he said, when he suddenly remembered his mother and the old homestead at Grafton and was seized with a desire to see his mother and former home again. His nerve failed him, however, he said, and instead he wrote a letter to a brother, John, telling him the circumstances of his disappearance. Now Mrs. Lederer will see if the man might be her son.

KING SHOWS SLIGHT GAIN IN HIS FIGHT FOR LIFE

London—(AP)—The desperate battle which King George has been waging for his life continued somewhat in his favor Wednesday.
The morning's medical bulletin, like the two of Tuesday recorded improvement, even though slight. Despite the fact that his majesty's gain has been slight, it has been definite and a more hopeful atmosphere prevailed among palace officials.
On the whole the situation was regarded as favorable and satisfactory although it was emphasized that anxiety continues and must continue for some time. Uninterrupted progress for several days, it was said, would be necessary before real confidence in the outcome can be felt.

ARRESTED AS 3RD MAN BUT DENIES GUILT

Woman Questioned for Clew as to Whereabouts of One of Bandit Pair
Green Bay—(AP)—A Green Bay policeman who patrolled the beat on which the $40,000 Farmers Exchange bank robbery took place, was under arrest Wednesday, stripped of his star, and charged with complicity in the affair.
Eliot Delaney, 26, a member of the Green Bay police force for three years, was ordered to give up his star and was arrested when he entered the police station at 6:45 Tuesday afternoon. He had entered to report before going on his E. Main-st beat, the territory in which the Farmers' Exchange bank is located.
Meanwhile a nation-wide search has been launched for two missing youths, also believed to be implicated. Their names were withheld. Authorities believe Delaney is "the third man" and that the two youths are the ones who abducted Thelma Noel, assistant cashier of the bank, and forced him to open the vault.
WOMAN QUESTIONED
Genevieve Heville was examined Tuesday night by District Attorney Raymond E. Evard in hopes she might reveal some information as to the whereabouts of one of the missing youths with whom she had been keeping company.
She denied any knowledge of the youth's whereabouts, although she admitted they had quarreled over "some blond" that he had been going with.
Delaney denied any connection with the robbery when arrested. He was held incommunicado in the county jail, awaiting arraignment in municipal court.
The arrest was made as the result of an investigation being conducted by A. M. De Voursney, chief of the protective department of the Wisconsin Bankers' Association, and Thomas O. Slack of a detective agency.

JOHN DOE PAPERS ARE SENT BACK TO COURT

Madison—(AP)—John W. Reynolds, attorney general Wednesday returned to Judge S. E. Schein of Dane-co Superior court, testimony and evidence in the John Doe investigation into Conservative Republican campaign funds used in the Kohler preliminary campaign.
Mr. Reynolds told the judge he had no authority to accept the records and that in his opinion the only place for them was in the Dane-co court vaults, except in case they showed evidence of violations of the corrupt practices act in some other county.
In that event, Mr. Reynolds said, they might be made available to the judge or district attorney who might start a case in the other county or counties.

MOVE PROBE IN SURETY BOND WRITING CASES

Milwaukee—(AP)—Investigation of surely bond writing by public officials as well as "fancy violations of law" by a grand jury was requested of Judge George A. Shaughnessy by the county board Tuesday afternoon.
The board's action is an outgrowth of the John Doe proceedings held last July by Judge Pace who found that public officials were writing surety bonds for contractors on public work.

Only Five Days Left In Good Fellow Campaign

Only five days remain to join with the 1928 Good Fellows club to raise enough money to provide Christmas happiness for the poor children of Appleton. Yesterday was the "biggest" day since the club started this year, about $150 being entered on the rolls, increasing the total to a little more than $350. This is far below the amount made available for the poor on this same date in previous years and unless there is a rapid increase in the number of remittances to this fund for the poor a lot of children will have to do without Santa Claus next Tuesday.
Those of you who have children know how far a dollar or two goes toward buying underwear, mittens, caps, stockings and perhaps a few toys for children. Well over 200 Appleton children are entirely dependent upon Good Fellows for their Christmas this year and you can see for yourself how far $350 will go.
There is a wide gulf between the active, healthy people of our city and the families left destitute by sickness, death or other misfortune. The vast majority of Appleton people are financially able to give a little at Christmas time to help the poor and if all those who can give would be actuated by real Christmas spirit there would be no difficulty in raising the money required for the work in which the Good Fellows are engaged.
If you want to help clip the coupon on another page of this paper and send it with your "membership fee" to the Good Fellows club, care of The Post-Crescent.

Rebels Near Capital Of Afghanistan Monarch

New Delhi, India—(AP)—Rebels were reported Wednesday to have seized two forts overlooking Kabul, capital of Afghanistan. They were awaiting reinforcements to press their attack.
A British aeroplane was shot through the radiator and made a forced landing near Kabul. The plane had been attempting to establish communication with the British legation with a view to the evacuation of British and Indian women and children if necessary.
DIDN'T PAY TROOPS
London—(AP)—The trouble that King Amanullah of Afghanistan is having in suppressing revolts was said in newspaper dispatches Wednesday to be due to his failure to pay his army.
A dispatch from Lahore, India, said that the army had not been paid for some time and that some soldiers had deserted to join the rebels, who were arrayed against King Amanullah chiefly because of his introduction of western ideas such as decreeing that women should go unveiled.
The Daily Mail printed a dispatch from Bombay saying that the standing army of 35,000 was disaffected because of insufficient pay.
A Karachi dispatch to the Daily Express quoted an unnamed merchant from Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, as saying that it was generally believed in Afghanistan that the king used army funds to pay for his many purchases of modern manufacture in Europe during his tour early this year. It was claimed that the army had not been paid for three months and that the king's high-handed methods and antagonized even members of his staff.
BUYS EQUIPMENT
King Amanullah, returning from his European tour, announced purchases which were mostly for the army.

SET HEARING FOR EAGLE CLUB HEADS

Trial of Officers Will Be Held Dec. 28 for Liquor Law Violations
Seven Appleton men, arrested Monday following a raid on the Eagles club here by federal prohibition officers, were arraigned in federal court at Fond du Lac before Commissioner A. D. Sutherland Wednesday morning and their preliminary hearing was set for 10 o'clock Friday morning, Dec. 28. The seven are charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.
A blanket board of $3,500, covering all seven of the defendants, was furnished.
Under arrest are: John H. Fiedler, president of the Eagles association, which owns the building which was raided; Frank Schneider, treasurer of the association; Walter Koester, secretary of the association; Charles Schimpf, secretary of the lodge; Barney Wellhouse, a bartender and an outer guard of the lodge; Henry Slaedt, a bartender; and Paul Hargl, Kaukauna, alleged beer manufacturer.
Two federal officers, who were on their way to Green Bay Monday afternoon, stopped at the Central Motor Car company garage, next to the Eagles club. One of the officers accidentally noticed the beer being unloaded and he and the other officer raided the place.
They found ten gallons of alleged moonshine and nine cases of alleged beer in the ice box and a quantity of alleged beer, wine, whiskey and kummet behind the bar. They also confiscated six barrels of beer being unloaded by Pagni and Slaedt.
The officers, who did not have search warrants when they descended on the club, claimed they had a right to investigate barrels or bottles of alleged beer if they did not carry labels.
The officers said padlock proceedings would be started against the club but in Milwaukee W. Frank Cunningham, deputy administrator of federal enforcement in Wisconsin, under whose direction the agents are working, said he would reserve judgment on the matter until a complete report was made. He did say that if a padlock was applied for they probably would apply it to the bar-room only.

SANTA CLAUS WILL COME TO FAMILIES—ALLEN—A MEN WILL GET BONUS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Christmas will be more than "just another day" for some 200 Allan-A strikers at Kenosha. For them the holiday is to lose none of its festive meaning.
To every worker, it will mean a cash bonus. To their children it will mean that Santa Claus will come again, and with him a Christmas tree and gifts.
Knitters wives in Milwaukee are providing for the children. Locals of the state federation of labor are laying plans to see that every striker has a Christmas just as merry this year as last, when he could provide his own presents and celebration.
A party is to be given Friday night at Kenosha for all the children Harold Steele, vice president of the National Federation of Fashioned Hosiery Workers, said here Wednesday. There will be gifts for each child, provided for the knitters' wives of Milwaukee through funds raised at a series of card parties. There will be a big tree and a program.
All state locals have been asked to make cash contributions to a fund for the strikers and Mr. Steele said that from present indications it will be possible to give each one between $8 and $10.
Plans also are being formulated for a party for them.

MILWAUKEE BANK TO DOUBLE ITS STOCK

Milwaukee—(AP)—The directors of the National Exchange bank voted Tuesday to increase capital stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000. Directors will submit the proposition to increase the capital to stockholders at a meeting on Jan. 22.

NO VOTE UNTIL AFTER RECESS FOR HOLIDAYS

Borah Decides for Postponement When Pact Is Introduced in Senate
REPORT MOSES CLAUSES
'Clarifying Statements' Sent With Treaty But Without Recommendations
Washington—(AP)—Postponement of consideration of the Kellogg anti-war treaty, reported Wednesday to the senate, until after the Christmas recess has been decided upon by Senator Borah, in charge of the treaty fight, after consultation with leaders.
The treaty was presented by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, which overwhelmingly approved it Tuesday. At the same time the "interpretative" resolution of Senator Moses, Republican of New Hampshire, was reported from the committee "without recommendation."
The resolution of Senator Moses, which he would have accompanying the ratification of the treaty as a "clarifying" statement of America's position was modified Wednesday by its sponsors and the direct reference to the American Monroe doctrine was eliminated.
In its final form the Moses resolution read:
"Resolved, that the senate of the United States, in advising and consenting to the multilateral treaty it does so with the understanding:
"1.—That the treaty does not impair or abridge the right of the United States to defend its territory or other vital interests in accordance with the traditional American policies.
"2.—That the treaty imposes no obligation on the United States to resort to coercive or punitive measures against any offending nation.
"3.—That the treaty does not obligate the United States to the conditions of any treaty to which the United States is not a party.
"4.—The secretary of state is requested to forward a copy of this resolution to the representatives of the other powers."

DIDN'T PAY TROOPS
London—(AP)—The trouble that King Amanullah of Afghanistan is having in suppressing revolts was said in newspaper dispatches Wednesday to be due to his failure to pay his army.
A dispatch from Lahore, India, said that the army had not been paid for some time and that some soldiers had deserted to join the rebels, who were arrayed against King Amanullah chiefly because of his introduction of western ideas such as decreeing that women should go unveiled.
The Daily Mail printed a dispatch from Bombay saying that the standing army of 35,000 was disaffected because of insufficient pay.
A Karachi dispatch to the Daily Express quoted an unnamed merchant from Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, as saying that it was generally believed in Afghanistan that the king used army funds to pay for his many purchases of modern manufacture in Europe during his tour early this year. It was claimed that the army had not been paid for three months and that the king's high-handed methods and antagonized even members of his staff.
BUYS EQUIPMENT
King Amanullah, returning from his European tour, announced purchases which were mostly for the army.

SET HEARING FOR EAGLE CLUB HEADS

Trial of Officers Will Be Held Dec. 28 for Liquor Law Violations
Seven Appleton men, arrested Monday following a raid on the Eagles club here by federal prohibition officers, were arraigned in federal court at Fond du Lac before Commissioner A. D. Sutherland Wednesday morning and their preliminary hearing was set for 10 o'clock Friday morning, Dec. 28. The seven are charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.
A blanket board of $3,500, covering all seven of the defendants, was furnished.
Under arrest are: John H. Fiedler, president of the Eagles association, which owns the building which was raided; Frank Schneider, treasurer of the association; Walter Koester, secretary of the association; Charles Schimpf, secretary of the lodge; Barney Wellhouse, a bartender and an outer guard of the lodge; Henry Slaedt, a bartender; and Paul Hargl, Kaukauna, alleged beer manufacturer.
Two federal officers, who were on their way to Green Bay Monday afternoon, stopped at the Central Motor Car company garage, next to the Eagles club. One of the officers accidentally noticed the beer being unloaded and he and the other officer raided the place.
They found ten gallons of alleged moonshine and nine cases of alleged beer in the ice box and a quantity of alleged beer, wine, whiskey and kummet behind the bar. They also confiscated six barrels of beer being unloaded by Pagni and Slaedt.
The officers, who did not have search warrants when they descended on the club, claimed they had a right to investigate barrels or bottles of alleged beer if they did not carry labels.
The officers said padlock proceedings would be started against the club but in Milwaukee W. Frank Cunningham, deputy administrator of federal enforcement in Wisconsin, under whose direction the agents are working, said he would reserve judgment on the matter until a complete report was made. He did say that if a padlock was applied for they probably would apply it to the bar-room only.

SANTA CLAUS WILL COME TO FAMILIES—ALLEN—A MEN WILL GET BONUS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Christmas will be more than "just another day" for some 200 Allan-A strikers at Kenosha. For them the holiday is to lose none of its festive meaning.
To every worker, it will mean a cash bonus. To their children it will mean that Santa Claus will come again, and with him a Christmas tree and gifts.
Knitters wives in Milwaukee are providing for the children. Locals of the state federation of labor are laying plans to see that every striker has a Christmas just as merry this year as last, when he could provide his own presents and celebration.
A party is to be given Friday night at Kenosha for all the children Harold Steele, vice president of the National Federation of Fashioned Hosiery Workers, said here Wednesday. There will be gifts for each child, provided for the knitters' wives of Milwaukee through funds raised at a series of card parties. There will be a big tree and a program.
All state locals have been asked to make cash contributions to a fund for the strikers and Mr. Steele said that from present indications it will be possible to give each one between $8 and $10.
Plans also are being formulated for a party for them.

MILWAUKEE BANK TO DOUBLE ITS STOCK

Milwaukee—(AP)—The directors of the National Exchange bank voted Tuesday to increase capital stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000. Directors will submit the proposition to increase the capital to stockholders at a meeting on Jan. 22.

NO VOTE UNTIL AFTER RECESS FOR HOLIDAYS

Borah Decides for Postponement When Pact Is Introduced in Senate
REPORT MOSES CLAUSES
'Clarifying Statements' Sent With Treaty But Without Recommendations
Washington—(AP)—Postponement of consideration of the Kellogg anti-war treaty, reported Wednesday to the senate, until after the Christmas recess has been decided upon by Senator Borah, in charge of the treaty fight, after consultation with leaders.
The treaty was presented by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, which overwhelmingly approved it Tuesday. At the same time the "interpretative" resolution of Senator Moses, Republican of New Hampshire, was reported from the committee "without recommendation."
The resolution of Senator Moses, which he would have accompanying the ratification of the treaty as a "clarifying" statement of America's position was modified Wednesday by its sponsors and the direct reference to the American Monroe doctrine was eliminated.
In its final form the Moses resolution read:
"Resolved, that the senate of the United States, in advising and consenting to the multilateral treaty it does so with the understanding:
"1.—That the treaty does not impair or abridge the right of the United States to defend its territory or other vital interests in accordance with the traditional American policies.
"2.—That the treaty imposes no obligation on the United States to resort to coercive or punitive measures against any offending nation.
"3.—That the treaty does not obligate the United States to the conditions of any treaty to which the United States is not a party.
"4.—The secretary of state is requested to forward a copy of this resolution to the representatives of the other powers."

Rebels Near Capital Of Afghanistan Monarch

New Delhi, India—(AP)—Rebels were reported Wednesday to have seized two forts overlooking Kabul, capital of Afghanistan. They were awaiting reinforcements to press their attack.
A British aeroplane was shot through the radiator and made a forced landing near Kabul. The plane had been attempting to establish communication with the British legation with a view to the evacuation of British and Indian women and children if necessary.

FRANCE SEES NEW GERMAN THREAT IN AIR DEVELOPMENT

French Militarists Look Across Border With Foreboding and Fear

BY JOHN EVANS
Paris.—(AP)—Germany is pictured as the future war lord of the air by some alarmed French military students. They look across the Rhine with foreboding, and they acknowledge that France is outclassed. They admit this in an effort to arouse national consciousness of the dangers of the day when tens of thousands of planes may fly over the cities of France dropping bombs and gas enough to kill millions.

The peace treaty of Versailles is blamed as the innocent cause of Germany's rise to aerial power. The treaty forbade the Germans to make or to have military planes, abolished her great army raised by conscription and took from her most of her navy.

"Our future is in the air," is said to be the German national policy. Marshal Lyautey is credited with saying the German plan of tremendous commercial airplane development may prove to be better than the French idea of a military aerial force.

General Boucabeille, chief of the French Committee of Aeronautical Propaganda, says in effect that war is now being waged in the air by commercial forces. France, seeking to develop military aviation, is described as lagging behind progress, while Germany, encouraging commercial aviation, is setting in motion an element of strength, quickly converted from peace to war uses, which will pay its own way.

Military planes and pilots, says General Boucabeille, spend a hundred or so hours in the air, while the commercial pilot in his commercial plane is up for a thousand hours. This greater experience and the absolute requirement of commerce that planes function smoothly, he thinks, promote inventive genius.

Andre Michelin, the principal tire-maker of France, long an enthusiast of aviation, is always in favor of effective preparedness, bluntly pictures Germany's strenuous economic efforts, all to his mind capable of being used for war, with France's lack of conviction that "science and industry are revolutionizing the art of war."

Maps of the commercial air lines of France and Germany show a dozen lines in France, while in Germany a network covers the Reich like a cobweb.

Two years ago, General Boucabeille says, four-fifths of the French military planes dated from the armistice and some were remnants of the war. In recent months there has been improvement and the creation of an air ministry is expected to revitalize French aviation.

French aviation, it is asserted, prevented from having a great army or a dangerous navy, went in to the air as a business and can make, says the general, 6,000 planes a month, while France's military equipment is only 1,500, with facilities for mass production far below the German capacity.

Both governments theoretically are trying to build their strength in the air. France has spent about $125,000,000 since the war on aircraft, putting only $12,000,000 into laboratory work.

Germany, saved the expense of an air army, is this year devoting half her air budget, or about $6,000,000, to research, more than three times this year's French appropriation.

French pilots are trained during their military service, with a certain proportion of long time enlistments. Germany, in training fewer fliers, is nevertheless said to be making better, surer ones, giving pilots a three year course and mechanics two years at the government institute at Staken. These fewer, however, are employed in the increasing network of commercial lines, while the French military pilots, after their discharge, almost invariably drop back into private life.

The bigness of the German engineering effort is indicated by the large proportion of technical men in various plants. In the Dornier works at Friedrichshafen, says General Boucabeille, there are 140 engineers and draftsmen for 400 workmen, and at the Rohrbach plant in Berlin, devoted to development work, there are 170 engineers and other technical experts for the 250 workmen, who produce only half a dozen planes a year, seeking simply to improve and invent.

A fine commercial air service in Germany is credited with turning the German people into air enthusiasts. There were 10,000 applicants for training at the opening of the Staken school, which was equipped to take only 70.

The commercial service, on such a big scale, with 200 planes in the air every day, running on railroad schedules, is given credit also for developing a fine quality of plane.

French commercial planes are said by the general to be limited by a range of usually not more than 500 miles, while the German lines to Spain and Italy are taking 1,200 and 1,800 miles at a jump as routine performances.

PHYSICIANS REPORT GETTSCHOW IMPROVING
The condition of Reuben Gettschow, former Appleton high school football star, who fractured the third and fourth vertebrae of his spinal column in a fall from a scaffold while working on the new Lawrence college gymnasium Monday morning is much improved, according to attending physicians. The youth is not suffering from paralysis since there is no pressure on the spinal cord, and his chances for recovery are good, providing complications do not set in.

STORES TO BE OPEN THURSDAY, FRIDAY SATURDAY EVENINGS

All Appleton stores will be open Thursday evening until 9 o'clock, according to the retail division of the chamber of commerce, and every night thereafter until the end of the week. They will open at the usual time in the morning, the extra period being for shoppers who wish to do their buying evenings. Stores will close at 6 o'clock sharp, Monday evening, Dec. 24.

TROOP COMMITTEES QUIZ BOY SCOUTS

Three Boys Advanced to Second Class Rank, One Award Given

Three scouts were promoted to second class rank and one received a merit badge award for leathercraft and carpentry at a court of honor held by the committee members of Troop 8 of the First Congregational church in the scout rooms at 7:30 Tuesday evening. Carl Schneider, Donald Johnson and Leo Ballinger were advanced to second class rank, and Charles Wilkner received the award. Members of the committee conducting the affair are Robert Wood, scoutmaster, Dr. R. V. Landis, and William Buchanan.

A board of review was held by the committee members of Troop 4 of the American Legion at the Armory, Monday night, and 15 scouts were examined for merit badge awards. Awards will be made at the annual troop Christmas party, Monday evening at the Armory. Members of the committee in charge of the court of honor are Charles Miller, Elmer Schabo, Clarence Baetz, Frank Koesler, and Dr. G. W. Rastetter. A court of honor will be held for scouts of Troop 20, Kaukauna, at the scout rooms in that city, Monday evening, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. The merit badge awards will be presented at a latter meeting.

CARRIE JACOBS BOND'S SON IS SHOT TO DEATH

Lake Arrowhead, Calif.—(AP)—Fred J. Smith, Hollywood business man and son of Carrie Jacobs Bond, song writer who formerly lived in Janesville, Wis., was found dead in his cabin here Tuesday with one bullet wound in his body.

Morris and Jack Ellinger, employees of the Lake Arrowhead hotel, discovered the body when members of Smith's family became worried at his prolonged absence and asked that an investigation be made of his cabin.

Tracks in the snow from Smith's automobile to his cabin indicated that he was unaccompanied when he arrived Tuesday night, the investigators said. A note found in the cabin is being held for the San Bernardino coroner. Its contents were not made known.

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; colder tonight in southeast; slightly warmer Thursday in northwest.

GENERAL WEATHER
The pressure is low this morning over the eastern lake region, with cloudy weather and with some snow yet falling. Higher pressure over the intermountain region and western plains states with mostly fair weather and with rather low temperatures throughout the west.

As this high extends its influence eastward it should extend generally fair and moderately cold weather into this section tonight and Thursday.

Eskimos Catch Colds From Outsiders Only

St. Louis.—(AP)—Although the Eskimos of Baffin Island and Greenland are very susceptible to the common cold and other infections of the upper respiratory tract and live in a climate which might be expected to foster such conditions, they apparently never are attacked by these diseases except when they come in contact with the less frigid outside world.

This point is emphasized in a paper by Dr. Peter Heinbecker, fellow of the National Research Council in medicine at Washington University, who was a member of the Greenland expedition of the American Museum of Natural History in 1926 and of the Putnam Baffin Island expedition last year in collaboration with Dr. Edith E. M. Irvine-Jones. There on Cadzow, fellow of the St. Louis Children's hospital.

"In the summer of 1926, as the members of the Greenland expedition of the American Museum of Natural History made their way up the west coast of Greenland," the paper relates, "it was noted that in certain of the settlements every native was the victim of an acute respiratory tract infection, while in others no evidence of such infection was present.

"Investigation revealed that in the former some contact had invariably been made with the outside world prior to their coming, while in the latter, within 48 to 72 hours of their arrival, all the natives developed acute respiratory infections with sneezing, coughing and spitting.

"Further north, among the Polar Eskimos, where it was certain that no outside contact had been made that year, there was never the slightest evidence of acute respiratory tract infections at the time of the arrival of the expedition, but within 72 hours nearly every Eskimo of the settlement developed such an infection. It was not necessary for any member of the expedition to have an acute respiratory infection for the malady to appear among the natives.

"Dr. Knud Rasmussen, the Arctic explorer, who was a member of the expedition, gave us considerable information about the course of such epidemics. In the fall of the year the infection subsides and does not appear until another contact has been made with the outside world."

Despite the poor hygienic conditions which exist among the Eskimos and their unusual exposure to occupational injuries, the paper, published by the American Association of Immunologists, also reports the observation that their wounds heal rapidly and without the attendant infections frequently encountered elsewhere. This is believed to be the result of a scarcity of pus-producing bacteria in those regions or to exceptional qualities of resistance in the skin of the Eskimos.

"No history of scarlet fever, diphtheria or measles could be obtained," the paper says, "and it seems quite unlikely that these diseases ever have occurred in this region during the lifetime of the present generation."

Their immunity to these diseases, which other peoples are thought to develop only through exposure to the germs, is attributed to heredity.

ALDERMEN TO HEAR COMMITTEE'S REPORT Canning Company Site Will Be 15 Feet Lower Than End of Sewer

The findings of the special committee to investigate possibility of extending a sewer at the northwest limits of the city, for the Hamilton Manufacturing company, Alderman W. H. Vanderheyden's resolution relative to a rebate for street oiling and the board of public works' recommendation that high level road be built from the present terminus of N. Rankin-st. to E. Wisconsin-ave, will come before the common council at its meeting Wednesday evening.

Indications are the special committee on the sewer question will report that if a sewer extension is made, the line will be 15 feet lower than the site for the plant and that only by pumping sewerage can the Hamilton Manufacturing company plans be carried out.

The resolution ordering a rebate on street oiling was presented at the special meeting of the council a few days ago but ruled out of order. The meeting had not been called to transact business other than letting contracts for underpinning the S. Oneida-st bridge piers.

VAGRANT DRAWS JAIL SENTENCE FROM JUDGE

Herman Wilson, Kaukauna, was sentenced to six days in the county jail by Judge Theodore Berg Tuesday when he pleaded guilty of vagrancy. Wilson was arrested in Kaukauna Sunday by R. H. McCarty, chief of police. Wilson was ill at the time of his arrest and he is being treated in the county jail.

VIRGINIA CITY ADDS TO SHRINE FOR NOTED POET

Richmond Builds Reproduction of House in Which Poe's Mother Died

Richmond, Va.—(AP)—Elizabeth Arnold Poe, mother of the man who wrote immortal prose and poetry, gives her name to a new fireproof building erected at the Poe Memorial here to house the priceless collection of Poeana.

This latest addition to the memorial is a reproduction of the little house in which the actress-mother died 117 years ago, leaving a three-year-old son, destined to write high on fame's scroll the imperishable name of Edgar Allan Poe.

Several years ago, largely through the efforts of Archer Jones and his wife of Richmond the "Old Stone House," a little gabled building of stucco, bronze, stone and mortar, and its old world garden became the shrine of the great artist who spent the early years of his unhappy life in Richmond.

The new building, adjoining the old, overlooks a boxwood garden filled with evergreens, periwinkle and star of Jerusalem. Ivy clammers over an old brick wall which separates the houses. In a tiny border around the shrubs blooms white hyacinths and sweet alyssum.

Near here was Poe's childhood home and the grave in historic St. John's churchyard where his mother sleeps. The house where he married Virginia Clemm, his child wife, is not far off, nor is the site of the Old Exchange Hotel in the parlor of which he made his last public appearance when he gave his lecture on "The Poetic Principle" and recited "The Raven" to an audience of barely a dozen persons.

In a nearby river he swam the long summer days with his companions, and from the old wharf a few blocks, below the place of the shrine he took his final departure from Richmond, leaving by boat for Baltimore, where ten days later he died.

Granville G. Valentine saved the Old Stone House from destruction in 1912, and the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities finally undertook its preservation. The late Archer G. Jones conceived the idea of establishing a Poe shrine.

The Poe Association in Richmond, founded by Charles Graves, now of the New York Times, had become almost defunct, and it was to this organization that Mr. and Mrs. Jones went with their plans.

In the spring of 1922 the shrine was formally opened under distinguished auspices. Since that time the Poe society, which today finds material expression in new buildings and rare collection of articles associated with the author, has grown rapidly.

JURY AWARDS PLAINTIFF $312 IN CAR CRASH SUIT

A jury in municipal court Tuesday night, after deliberating for three quarters of an hour, awarded William Molphy, Ontario, Wis. $312 damages against R. B. Beck, Oshkosh, and Ben Tebo, Green Bay. The verdict was delivered at 9 o'clock. Molphy had sued for $700 blaming Tebo and Beck for an accident which occurred on Highway 41 near the Brown-Ouagameco line last January. Molphy charged Tebo had his car backed on the highway and that when he tried to avoid hitting it he was struck from the rear by Beck. The case opened before Judge Theodore Berg Tuesday morning.

NEGRO SLAYER WILL GO TO CHAIR FEB. 15

Chicago.—(AP)—David Shanks, young Negro bootblack, who beat Miss Jennie Meta Constance, formerly of Cumberland, and La Crosse, Wis., and Northwestern university student, over the head with an iron bar and then robbed her, was Tuesday sentenced to die in the electric chair in the Cook-co jail on Feb. 15.

CHAMBER COMMITTEES CALL OFF MEETINGS

All meetings of chamber of commerce committees have been dispensed with this week and will not be resumed until after the holidays, according to Kenneth Corbett, secretary. The Christmas rush which is keeping merchants in their stores is forcing postponement.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Tell of Iron River, Mich., are spending several days with Appleton friends.

CLOUDY AND COLDER WEATHER IS DUE

Weather predictions for this vicinity for the next 24 hours are rather uncertain. The weatherman says the skies are to be cloudy and the mercury will drop a few more degrees by Wednesday night. The mercury is due for a rise by Thursday afternoon.

Similar conditions will prevail throughout the central sections of the state for the next 24 hours. Snow flurries were general throughout the state Tuesday evening. Approximately .5 of an inch of snow fell here, it is reported.

At 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, the mercury registered 18 degrees above zero and at 12 o'clock noon the thermometer stood at 22 degrees above zero.

BUILDING PERMITS

One building permit was issued Wednesday morning by the city building inspector. It permitted erection of a garage at 515 N. Lavest, at a cost of $200.

Mount Etna Benefactor As Well As Destroyer

Washington.—(AP)—Mount Etna is a benefactor as well as a destroyer. The great volcano which has been pouring death and destruction over the surrounding countryside does good as it works evil, the National Geographic society says.

By eruptions, Etna fertilizes the fields. If there were no Etna, there probably would be no Sicily. If there were no lava flows, the slopes of Europe's greatest volcano would become an abandoned desert.

Few Sicilian peasants, however, would admit that a tongue of smoking lava cinder that spreads over his field, crushes his orchard, smashes his home and destroys his village is a gift of heaven.

When it has cooled, the jagged bed of frozen rock looks even less like fertilizer. But the great grandson of the peasant wiped out by Etna's fury probably will plant and reap a harvest on that volcanic flow when it has weathered.

Farmers on Etna's slopes now blast holes in old lava beds and in the pits plant almond, chestnut, lemon and olive trees which thrive vigorously on the disintegrating volcanic rock. The best wine of Sicily, it is said, comes from the vineyards on the flanks of Etna.

No better proof of the mountain's power to spread prosperity, the Geographic society says, exists than the necklac of towns that encircle the 10,739 foot peak—Catania, Acireale, Giarre, Lingauglossa, Randazzo, Bronte, Aderno, Paternò, Misterbianco and others. The horn of plenty has poured products so generously into these villages that a railroad, the Circumetnea, has been built to carry the surplus to the seaport of Catania.

Travelers find a trip on this 70-mile railroad the best way to see Etna. The train slides through orchards, vineyards and grain fields; crosses lava flows of all ages and pauses in towns colonized by the Phoenicians, magnified by the Romans, taken by the flaxen-haired Normans and rewon by Italy. Above the railroad lies the Regione Boscosa of pines, birches and oaks, and above that the sterile Deserta capped by the snowy crater lip.

DISMISS NON-SUPPORT CHARGE AGAINST MAN

Charges of non-support against John Krueger, Appleton, were dismissed by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday when his wife withdrew her complaint. It seems the warrant for Krueger's arrest had been sworn out in November and the difficulties had been settled in the meanwhile. Monday Krueger was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Walter Scherck.

FRANCE BECOMES HAPPY HAVEN FOR MANY FUGITIVES

Hundreds of Political Refugees Find Safety There from Extradition

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
Paris—When the French Extradition Court refused to hand over Henry M. Blackmer, fugitive oil magnate, to American authorities, it acted according to French principle. Despite the fact that Blackmer has no passport, is wanted at home on a perjury charge in connection with his income tax statements, and is alleged to know a great deal about the Teapot Dome scandals, he may stay in France just as long as he likes, if he behaves himself. For France is a happy haven for political refugees. Foreigners who do not find home a comfortable place to live may remain here unless they are wanted for rather extreme offenses.

MOSTLY POLITICAL OFFENDERS
In France today, there probably are thousands of foreigners who couldn't go back to their home countries without getting into trouble. Among these are a great many Russians of the old aristocracy with whom the Soviets would like to deal. Almost equal in number are Italians under the displeasure of the Fascist regime and only biding their time when they can go back home and re-establish themselves. There also are many Spaniards who do not like Primo de Rivera and who would be very cordially received at home. Others come from Balkan states. Although the majority of these refugees are living in France because of their political opinions, others are able to remain without being molested for minor civil offenses. France has refused to extradite Blackmer under the 1909 extradition convention between this country and the United States. This refusal is to false oath taken in court, but does not cover perjury generally. Furthermore, the French perjury law gives a suspected or guilty person immunity three years after the offense is committed. In the case of Blackmer, the accusation of false oath dates back six years.

Blackmer's position would now seem secure as long as he remains in France. He will enjoy the same status as any American tourist. Sentiment here is very much against harassing foreigners who mind their own business and obey the laws of the country.

PLENTY OF MONEY
Blackmer is believed to have transferred a considerable amount of his wealth, which runs into millions of dollars, to French banks. Even if this is true, the Treasury Department should be able to tie up his large holdings in the United States, he would have enough to live here in luxury for the rest of his life.

The American fugitive has been living in seclusion, trying to evade publicity and shying at anything that looked like a press camera. He makes his headquarters in a palatial hotel off the Champs Elysees, but he keeps a private little apartment where he can retire in absolute seclusion.

Friends of Blackmer believe that he will remain in France indefinitely. He cannot travel in Europe because he has no passport, and he cannot get one unless he goes back home and clears himself.

Blackmer Thwarts U. S. Government

"Silver Bullets" Did Not Kill So Many Deer

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

Since the close of the recent open season for deer hunting many criticisms of existing conditions have been offered and many items have appeared in the columns of the press. One of the features most deprecated is the assumption that most of the deer brought back to civilization by the hunters were killed by "silver bullets"—in other words, were bought from settlers in the north country. Let us analyze that situation. Most hunters who have killed their deer, and many of those who have not, know that there is a certain amount of this done. But, who can say how extensive this traffic is? However, for the sake of analysis, we will assume that most of the "successful" hunters bought their deer. Of course, every hunter who brought back a deer maintains that he shot it, but that the other fellow bought his. That seems to be human nature.

But what of it if he did? What if it every deer that was brought down, was bought from some settler? Suppose there were three or four thousand of the animals killed and used for food. The conservation commission no doubt is satisfied that enough deer were left alive in the woods to insure proper replenishment of the supply, otherwise they would close the season.

Each person who bought a license obtained thereby permission from the state to kill one buck deer. The state, when it sold those licenses, did not know but what every purchaser would kill a deer. In other words, the state sold one deer to every hunter who bought a license. Therefore, the supply should be adequate, or a closed season should prevail. There should be no gambling on the part of the state, because gambling is illegal.

To sum it up, there is no question but that some deer are bought by the hunters, but the practice is by no means as prevalent as some of the wise-crackers would have you believe.

The universal cry to the coming legislature will be to set the season ahead to November, as it formerly was. And no one need be surprised if this is done. That will mean that, not only will more deer be killed because of it being their breeding season, but that many more does and fawns will be brought out by automobiles which, usually, during December cannot get into the woods on account of the snow.

If a change is made as to open season, why not make it the first part of October? At that time the animals are fat and most excellent for food. It would mean hunting them before the rutting season is really in full blast, and it would enable the hunters who do not fancy the rough work and cold weather of December, to get into the woods with more comfort and ease. And they could kill just as many deer with "silver bullets" as they could in December.

There never was a law enacted that suited everybody, and very seldom a game law ever enacted in Wisconsin that was allowed to remain on the statutes long enough to prove its merit or demerit.

SPEAKING CLASSES BEING ORGANIZED

Two Groups Meet Weekly to Learn Essentials of Public Speaking

Tentative plans for the 1929 Y. M. C. A. Chamber of Commerce public speaking classes have been arranged and classes will probably begin Tuesday evening, Jan. 8, according to G. F. Werner, general secretary of the association and member of the committee in charge of arrangements. Two classes will be conducted this year: one for beginners and another for men who were members of the 1928 group. The elementary group will meet for the first time at 7:30 Tuesday evening, Jan. 8, and the advanced class at 7:30 Thursday evening, Jan. 10.

Classes will meet weekly and at the end of the month the two groups will combine for a banquet, and practice speeches are to be presented. Membership in the class is open to local men and application should be made at the Y. M. C. A. or to any member of the committee which is composed of John Neller, chairman, Kenneth Corbett, F. M. Ingler, G. F. Werner, and W. H. Falatic.

INFLUENZA STILL GOING EASTWARD

400,000 New Cases in Week
—379 Deaths Reported in 55 Cities

Washington—(AP)—Influenza is believed to be continuing its spread eastward along lines of traffic.

This announcement by the public health service was accompanied by the estimate that there were at least 400,000 new cases during the past week. Along with this went an announcement from the census bureau that reports from 55 cities showed 379 deaths from the disease in the week ending Dec. 15, as compared with 284 deaths in the same cities the previous week. An increase in the country's death rate over that of last year was also shown. The figures for the week ending Dec. 15 were 15.2 per 100,000 against 12.7 last year.

The estimate of 400,000 new cases was based on information from 20 states and New York city where 39,537 cases were actually reported. Of the 73 cities included in the census bureau's report, 23 had not been heard from.

There was nothing in the announcements Tuesday to indicate that the disease, regarded as mild in form in comparison with other outbreaks, had changed in nature, though it was said that another report on the situation was in preparation.

RUSH OF CHRISTMAS MAIL HAS STARTED

Additional Trucks and Men Are Engaged to Facilitate Delivery

The Christmas rush of mail has started at the Appleton postoffice. Every mail train bears from one to four and five times the amount of mail normally brought into the city. The basement of the postoffice has been converted into a parcel post receiving and dispatching room. All parcel post mail is sent to the basement where it is sorted and then routed into the city over 10 truck routes. Seven of these routes were established for the Christmas season to handle the rush of Xmas mail. In addition to the seven trucks added to the regular parcel postal force each truck driver has been assigned an assistant to aid in delivering the packages. This additional man facilitates the delivery of packages.

Ten extra men have been added to the clerical force at the postoffice to aid in receiving and dispatching of outgoing mail and to help in sorting mail for delivery in the city. Despite the fact that the ranks of workers have been depleted by sickness activities at the postoffice are running smoothly.

Milwaukee Woman Hardly Dared To Leave Her House

So Weak and Nervous Was Actually Afraid to Cross Street — Takes Sargon and in 30 Days is Well Woman.

"Sargon proved to be just the medicine I have needed. I only regret I didn't take it years ago." Time after time this thought predominates in the written and spoken endorsements from people who, through Sargon, have experienced the joy of new found health and happiness.

One of the outstanding features of Sargon is the fact that it seems to produce most striking results in cases that have heretofore baffled every effort to overcome the suffering as is illustrated strikingly in the experience of Mrs. W. A. Shelly, 486 Marshall St., Milwaukee, a member of the Eastern Star and the Episcopal church who says:

"I actually believe Sargon saved me from an operation. I feel so fine now that it is hard to realize that thirty days ago I was so weak, dizzy and nervous I was actually afraid to cross the street or come up town."

"For five years I suffered terribly with liver and gall bladder trouble. At times the pain in my right side was so severe I could hardly endure it. In spite of the many medicines I took to act on the liver my tongue remained coated and I was constantly bilious."

"I suffered a great deal from indigestion, gas pains and headaches, and a terrible burning sensation in my stomach."

"Although I spent hundreds of dollars trying to regain my health I kept going down hill until I became so weak, dizzy and nervous that I hardly dared venture out of the house."

"And now for the first time in years I am not bilious. My nerves are steady and I am no longer bothered with headaches. The pains in my right side have disappeared and I feel so strong and full of energy it is a pleasure to be out and going. My digestion is splendid and I eat what I want."

"I owe it every bit to Sargon and the Sargon Soft Mass Pills, which I took along with the medicine, and there is nothing too good I can say for them."

Sargon may be obtained in Appleton from Voigt's Drug Store.

LIQUOR SMUGGLING FROM CANADA GAINS IN VOLUME, VALUE

Canadian Exports in 1928 Totaled 1,169,002 Gallons, Sargent Shows

BY ALLENE SUMNER
Washington—The attorney-general of the United States is in the unenviable position of a man who has finally succeeded in solving a tough problem only to have it go all to pieces on him and present itself in an entirely new way.

The annual report of Attorney-General Sargent, just made public, sheds a new and interesting light on the trials and tribulations that attend the efforts to prevent the smuggling of intoxicants into this country.

It reveals that whereas the smuggling of liquor from the high seas has been got pretty well under control, the flood that seeps in across the Canadian border is steadily increasing, despite all efforts to check it.

"The problems of the liquor smuggling traffic directly from Canada into the United States across the international boundary line continue to be unsolved," admits the report. "Indeed, while the record of foreign ship seizures would seem to indicate that the smuggling traffic from the high seas through the aid of hovering vessels is diminishing, such traffic across the international boundary on the north is increasing. The great bulk of this trade is carried on through the waters of the Great Lakes and their connections."

To begin with, as the report points out, it is possible to estimate the amount of liquor smuggled in from Canada a little more accurately than that which comes in from other places, because much of the Canadian liquor passes through the Canadian customs, and official record is made of it.

These Canadian official records show graphically the increase in the amount of liquor sent over from the dominion. The following table shows the total number of gallons exported in the last four years:

1925 .....	665,898
1926 .....	983,152
1927 .....	1,055,218
1928 .....	1,169,002

Furthermore, the value of the smuggled product keeps going up. In 1925 the Canadian value of the exported whisky was $10,772,938. This year the sum rose to $18,883,541. The report goes on to add:

"These figures thus given cover the exportations of whisky only, and the same records show that the total value of all alcoholic beverages exported from Canada to the United States during the year ending June 30, 1928, amounted to $24,397,953. As observed heretofore, these records show only the liquor which was regularly cleared through Canadian customs."

"Some of it may be short circuited for consumption in Canada. On the other hand, it is believed a substantial amount of liquor enters the United States across the northern border, of which the Canadian customs has no record. Based on the figures supplied by the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce, it will be noted that in the course of three years the volume of this traffic has increased more than 75 per cent."

During these years there has been a steady diminution in the number of ships seized for importing contraband liquor. The total for the fiscal year 1928 was 370—a reduction from 518 in 1925. This decline reflects the partial passing of that institution of the early days of prohibition—rum row.

"The foreign vessel hovering with supplies of liquor off the coast of the United States continues to be a source of trouble along the seaboard east, west and south," says the report. "However, since the extradition territorial seizure conventions have received favorable construction by the supreme court, and since the affirmation of the conviction of the master of the schooner Pescawia and the three chief officers of the steamship Quadra in Oregon and California, respectively, the operators of such ships have become more wary and there are no longer groups of liquor-laden vessels anchored off the coast of the United States on the high seas awaiting an opportune time to unload."

Most of the liquor-laden vessels captured in the last year were seized in Florida waters, or close thereby, the report points out—an indication that the Bahamas Islands are continuing to act as an important source of supply for the bootleg trade. On the north Atlantic coast, according to the report, the port of St. Pierre-Miquelon, in the vicinity of the mouth of the St. Lawrence, is the main source of supply and operating base for rum runners.

Night School Students Average 27 Years In Age

The average age of people attending evening classes at the Appleton vocational school is 27.57 years and registration cards indicate that they come from all walks in life, according to Herb Hellig, director. Some students enroll as soon as the law permits them and others postpone their enrollments until later years when they feel that they are able to devote more time to study.

Several students enrolled now are 58 and 60 years of age. About 40 per cent of the total attendance is composed of people between 19 and 24.

The median age for the total enrollment is 24 years, which means that one half of the students are below 24 years and the other half are older. A comparison of ages of men and women show the median age for women is 23.21 years, while for men it is 26.66 years. This difference of practically three years is due to the fact that women reach maturity earlier than men, Mr. Hellig says.

ACADEMIC SUBJECTS YOUNGER

People taking academic subjects are younger than those taking shop work and the median age of shop men is 27.05 while the age of men taking academic subjects is 25 years. The difference in ages is a result of academically trained people taking advantage of evening school opportunities at an early age.

The median age of women taking home making courses is 22.37 years. This is probably somewhere near the age where the majority of women get married and assume home making responsibilities, according to Mr. Hellig.

About 25 per cent of people are over 30 years old, and 75 per cent

PRESENT VALUABLE BOOKS TO SCHOOL

Part of Private Library of Late Orlando Clark Turned Over by Widow

Part of the private library of the late Orlando Clark, including several sets of unusual and exceedingly valuable books, has been presented to the Appleton high school library by Mrs. Clark, 905 S. Cherry-st. The collection includes about six hundred books, several pictures, old annuals, pamphlets, political campaign booklets, and old newspaper clippings.

Among the more valuable donations are a set of Badgers, the University of Wisconsin yearbook; a thirty-five volume set of books by the French novelist, Balzac; the campaign books of various presidential elections published and distributed by the different political parties; and a large scrapbook containing important newspaper clippings. Several old textbooks, some of them 150 years old, also are in the collection.

The books will be catalogued, and placed on the library shelves, as soon as possible, and the pictures will be hung in the classrooms.

SIMPLICITY AT INAUGURAL OF NEW GOVERNOR

Two or More Special Trains to Bring Friends of Kohler to Madison

Madison—(P)—Solemnity and simplicity are stressed in the inaugural ceremonies program made public Tuesday by the committee appointed by Governor Fred R. Zimmerman with the approval of Governor-Elect Walter J. Kohler.

The program, which was understood to have the incoming executive's approval for two or more special trains from Sheboygan and surrounding towns.

These will bring, besides friends of the incoming governor from his home territory, the Kohler American Legion band the Plymouth Drum corps and the drum corps from Sheboygan Falls.

These military musical organizations were to be interspersed in a parade from the station, four blocks up to the capitol square, around the square to the Monona Ave. entrance of the state house and into the building.

There the parade will disband so that the re-elected state officers and governor-elect may meet in the governor's office and after a brief period of greeting, meet their escorts at the inaugural stand in the rotunda of the building close by the south wing.

MARCH FROM OFFICE
To this stand chief justices of the state supreme court, the constitutional officers and the escorts will march from the governor's office shortly before noon.

And at high noon Marvin B. Rosenberry, acting chief justice of the supreme court in the absence of A. J. Vinje, chief justice, who is ill, will administer the oath of office to the governor and the four other officers.

The Rev. J. P. Jannette, Milwaukee, will deliver the opening invocation and there will be music before and after the oath is administered. The tentative program called for Mozart club, male chorus of Madison to furnish the music.

Madison's company G. of the National guard will have men in uniform between the governor's office and the inaugural stand, and in other parts of the main floor of the capitol.

Governor-Elect Kohler's Episcopal minister from Sheboygan or Kohler was selected on the tentative program to deliver the closing prayer. Citizens of the state were then to be received by the governor and re-elected state officers in their respective suites in the capitol during the afternoon, while the Kohler band plays in the rotunda of the first floor.

A dinner for his friends and state officers may be given by the new governor in the Hotel Loraine on the evening of inauguration day.

SCHMIEGE DRAFTS TAX AMENDMENT

Chamber of Commerce Here Favors Reciprocal Clause for State Law

The first draft of a reciprocal clause for the state inheritance tax law has been received by W. O. Thiede, president of Appleton Chamber of Commerce, from Assemblyman Oscar Schmiede of the second district of Outagamie-co. The assemblyman had been asked by the local chamber to draw up an amendment to the present law.

The amendment provides that "personal property of a non resident decedent made taxable under this chapter (state inheritance tax law) except tangible personal property having an actual situs in this state, shall not be subject to the tax imposed if a like exemption was allowed at the time of the death of the state, territory or district of the decedent's residence, in favor of residents of this state."

Under the new amendment, property in Wisconsin will not be taxed under the inheritance law if the decedent is a resident of another state which also has a reciprocal clause in its inheritance tax statute that the particular state will not tax property belonging to a deceased resident of Wisconsin.

WEDDING IN WHITE HOUSE JUST COULD NOT BE FOR JOHN

Ceremony Must Take Place at Bride's Home, Social Leaders Point Out

BY ALLENE SUMMER
Washington—Announcement that Florence Trumbull will NOT be a White House bride has stiffened the marcel and brought out the finger-nail polish of this city's bloodied ladies who run "Social Bureaus."

For these pilots of society have been insisting ever since the rumor of a Trumbull-Coolidge White House wedding started that it simply could not be; that such a precedent of bad form never would be established by a daughter of a governor, nor by the son of a Coolidge.

Day after day the society bureau dames called the newspapers to insist that this harping upon a White House wedding simply showed that they didn't know what was proper and befitting, and that they owed it to the populace to remind it again that "the groom always weds his bride in her own home, no matter how humble."

Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, who runs one of the city's most exclusive social bureaus, who has attended three White House weddings herself, and whose grandmother, Maria Monroe, youngest daughter of President James Monroe, was a White House bride, is very relieved by the announcement from the Connecticut House of Trumbull.

"I felt right along that it simply could not be," she said. "I wondered what would happen to wedding etiquette in general if such a precedent were started. The rule would crash in toto. It would be impossible to expect girls of lesser rank to be married in their own homes if the so-called 'Crown Princess' of the nation rushed off to be married in her fiancé's home simply because he lived in a bigger and more famous home than her own."

Mrs. Hoes recalls that she "never could quite accept the Frances Folsom-Grover Cleveland wedding."

"That is the only White House wedding of a bride who was not, at least, related in some way to the White House master or mistress," she reminds those who point out that there have been other White House weddings for brides whose home was not the White House.

She points out that Miss Todd, who was married in the White House, was a niece of Mrs. James Madison. Elizabeth Tyler, Nellie Grant, Maria Monroe, Alice Roosevelt, Jessie and Eleanor Wilson, were daughters of presidents. Alice Wilson was a niece of the president; Miss Johnson, who married John Quincy Adams, Jr., was a niece of President Jackson, and another bride, Miss Emily Platt, was a niece of President Hayes.

Leaving Frances Folsom the only White House bride who really defied etiquette by marrying in her fiancé's home.

And the social bureau dames believe it would have been better if the other brides, even if related to the White House tenants, had put Good Form before the opportunity to have their grandchildren tell how grandma was a White House bride.

"If Miss Trumbull had lived through the period of the Cleveland wedding and could remember the wave of criticism which swept the country at the spectacle of a beautiful young girl rushing to her fiancé's home to be married, she would only rejoice in the perfect decision she has made," said Mrs. Hoes.

COST REDUCED

Almost One-Third on Loans $10 to $300

The Household Finance Corporation, by reason of large volume of business, efficient management, and favorable credit facilities, attained after fifty years of operation, is now making a very substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300.

You can borrow from us for about one-third less than we formerly charged, and about one-third less than the maximum lawful rate. For example, total cost on $50 for one month is $1.25; for five months, paid in five equal monthly payments, is $3.75. All other amounts up to $300 at same proportionate rate.

If you have a loan elsewhere, let us explain our new reduced rate and tell you how much you will save by borrowing from us. You get the money without delay, return it in small monthly payments, arranged to suit your convenience. Each payment of principal reduces the interest.

No Endorsers. No one need know. Our service is personal and confidential. We do not notify your employer, neither do we make inquiries of your friends, relatives or tradespeople.

Loans made in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute and other nearby towns.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
ORCHARD—A real name is ASH-TOTH—ASHTOTH ASHE.
Her mother, a romantic woman, named her for the moon goddess of ancient Egypt—the love god-des to whom Egyptian women prayed. A rather absurd name —and yet it seemed, peculiarly, to suit the girl. For she is extraordinarily beautiful, in an unusual and exotic sort of way.

HOLLIS HART, the famous financier, was immensely impressed the first time he saw her —and Hollis Hart was not a susceptible person. He was, in fact, one of the wealthiest and most eligible bachelors in America.

Ashforth went to work for Hart, Lee, Inc., when she was 18 years old. Hart, at the time, must have been nearly 50—old enough to be her father.
Ashforth rather swept him off his feet the first day she entered his office. No one knew how to dress more successfully than Ashforth. On $18 she could look like a rich man's daughter. She was black exclusively. And on this particular day happened to be wearing a most unusual ring that attracted her employer's attention. An imitation scarab. Hart, interested in archaeology, noticed it immediately.

When he commented upon it,
Ashforth spoke casually of Egypt and of Cleopatra. Hart, impressed by her rather unusual familiarity with the customs and manners of ancient Egypt, engaged her in conversation.
He learned that her name was that of the old moon goddess.
Tremendously surprised, he shows an unusual interest in the new stenographer. And Ash-forth, thrilled by his attention, takes his dictation with her head in a lovely whirl.

That night she reads about Cleopatra until dawn, because in reality—she had pretended a knowledge of things with which she was not at all familiar. She goes to work hoping that Mr.
Hart will speak of Cleopatra again, so that she may stir her new knowledge.

To her intense surprise he summons her to ask her opinion regarding a letter he has just received. Dumbfounded, she takes it from his hand.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER II
It was an amazing letter. Inscribed on expensive stationery.
Heavy with foreign scent. The girl who wrote it had used green ink and a stub pen. She wrote violently. A round, childish hand, sparing neither endearments nor threat.

"Dearest Holly," she demanded.
"Why don't you phone me?
Where were you every night
last week? I'm just crazy about you, Holly. I can't read.
I can't eat. I can't sleep—oh God, how I suffer! You don't know the way a loving girl can suffer or you wouldn't leave me alone with my thoughts anymore. I get so desperate thinking about you and have you gone back on me? I guess you think you can break my heart and walk all over me, after you made me so crazy about you. But I'm not one of the kind you can cast off like an old shoe. I guess you knew what the poet said about hell doesn't know any fury like a woman when you get through with her. But you're not through with me, are you, dear? I guess I'm sort of crazy because I love you and you don't come to see me any more."

Someone told me I got a good case against you with the apartment all furnished and everything. But God knows I don't want to do anything like that.
Maybe you think I am crazy, raving on like this. But I thought you didn't get my messages that I leave on the telephone and you would get mad if I went to see you like you told me not to. So please come back to your loving MAE.

Ashforth handed the surprising communication back to her employer. Acutely uncomfortable, she stood rigidly by his desk.

"I do not understand," she said,
"why you wished me to read your most personal correspondence."

"Because," he explained, "I wanted to get your reaction. I wanted to see the effect of a letter like that on a girl like you. A whim, perhaps."

"Mae de Marr worked in this office once. A filing clerk. I believe I wondered how many girls like her there are out there. I thought perhaps, you could tell me."

Ashforth raised her head.
"I am afraid," she said, "that I cannot help you. I wonder why you thought I could."

"I hope I have not offended you," he apologized. "I assure you there was nothing at all personal in my inquiry. I'm simply interested in this modern girl proposition. I thought maybe you could help me
see the light."

He came then and stood in front of her.
"Please, Miss Ashe," he appealed boyishly, "tell me—what's it all about? They say modern girls are self-respecting. We hear so much about the modern girl and her independence. It's just a lot of nonsense, isn't it? Be a good sport, Miss Ashe—how many Mae de Marrs have I got there?"

"You mean," she asked evenly,
"how many girls would let you set them up in an apartment and be prepared, when you had tired of them to step out of the picture?"

"My gosh, Miss Ashe!"
Hart explored his pockets nervously for cigarettes.

"Hold on a minute. You've got me quite wrong. I wasn't—if you'll pardon the expression—keeping Miss de Marr. She came to me a few months ago with a hard luck story.
I was sorry for the girl. She's something of a moron, you see. A pretty little thing, with the mentality, I should say, of a 12-year-old.
And the sex appeal of a born courtesan. You know the type."

"Her mother, she said, had thrown her out. They'd been a bit of scandal and the old folks were pretty much upset. It may seem a bit

Don Quixotic, but—well, to tell the truth—

Mr. Hart paused to light a cigaret, and Ashforth scribbled "Don Quixotic" on the cover of her notebook. Something else to look up in the library. Gently how many things a girl didn't know. Lots of people used the expression. She wondered if they all knew what it meant.

He glanced at her quickly as she slipped her pencil back in place. But her hands were folded now as before, quietly in her lap.

"My secretary," he informed her surprisingly, "has a perfect passion for cats. A few months ago he suggested that we endow something or other for homeless felines. A hospital, I think it was—an asylum for indigent animals. Dogs, too. If I remember correctly, he persuaded me to sign a check for $10,000."

"Well, he hadn't been out of here 10 minutes—with my check in his pocket—when in walks this little Mae. Crying her eyes out. It was about six o'clock. She'd waited, I suppose, until the rest of the girls had gone. I was waiting myself for a telephone call."

"Now—I wonder if I can make myself clear—Mr. Higgins goes in, you see, for dumb animals. Well, here was a dumb woman. And, if a flock of cats is worth $10,000, how much,
I asked myself, is a woman worth?"

"A purely rhetorical question," he assured her. "I was merely speculating. It's puzzling—the relative value of things. Particularly when a man with a philanthropic bent acquires a great deal of money."

"Can you imagine, Miss Ashe, having so much money that it doesn't make any difference—to me, I mean—whether I spend it on starving cats or foolish girls?"

"You don't really mean that?" she gasped.

"Well," he admitted, "there is more kick, of course, in spending it on girls. Cats are so undemonstrative, don't you know. Anyhow I reckoned it would be more fun squandering a few thousand on the little Mae. A better return, you might say, on the investment."

"Oh."
Ashforth straightened unconsciously in her high-backed chair.

"No," he murmured, "I didn't mean that at all. My word, you are a suspicious young person. My mo-sellers are all about her. The general opinion seems to be that this so-called modern girl is a paragon of all the recent virtues. Honest, fearless, clear thinking, independent.

"Personally, I'm beginning to think she's a good deal of a fraud.
It seems to me that she's pretty proficient in most of the old-time vices. I might almost say that she practices them exclusively. And this war cry of hers—Independence and Equal Rights! Is rather a lot of hum. However, Miss de Marr may be an exception, of course. That's what I'd like you to tell me."

(To Be Continued)

Hollis Hart continues the story of his amazing philanthropy and the ingratitude of Mae de Marr, the girl of mystery. And Ashforth denies her mother! In the next chapter.

Manual Art Students Make Christmas Gifts

With the application of much brawn and patient hours of back-breaking labor, black, uninteresting slabs of iron are being transformed into handsome wrought iron work gifts in the manual arts department of Appleton high school, and on Christmas day many mothers will be honored with gifts that were made by the sweat of the brow and the sacrifice of long hours of playtime.

The vogue for hand-hammered iron work has turned the basement of the Appleton high school into a place strangely akin to a blacksmith shop, and the clanging of iron on iron can be heard in the lower regions of the school almost any hour of the day. A magic wand—or perhaps an iron hammer—waved over chunks of dull iron transform them into lamps, book-racks, candelabras, log-racks, marshmallow tongs, picture frames and colonial mirrors that inspire envy in the hearts of Christmas shoppers.

Time was when wrought iron work was merely a third part of the course in manual arts, the others being machine shop and forge work. But since last year the devotees of the art have become so numerous that
G. W. Cooper, instructor, is contemplating making it into a regular course. Perhaps it is the combination of the proximity of Christmas and the low level of finances that is making the high school boys enthusiastic over the work, but nevertheless handsome pieces are being turned out and most of them will be completed in time for Christmas.

Pro Women Vote For Peace Pact

THE Appleton Business and Professional Womens club went on record Tuesday night favoring the entrance of the United States into the world court, and adopted a resolution to send letters to the Wisconsin senators urging them to work toward that end.

The action was taken at a business session which followed a dinner at 6 o'clock at Appleton Womens club, attended by 27 members. Carols were sung in the dinner hour outside of the club house by the Intermediate Sunday school class of First English Lutheran church, of which Mrs. Elsie Foor is the teacher. Miss Jean Shannon gave a reading, "Tradition" and Santa Claus distributed gifts. The gifts were left at the club house for redistribution to poor children. Candy canes and popcorn balls were favors and the dinner tables were decorated with red candles and holly.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by members of the program committee of which Miss Anna Tarr is chairman and by members of the entertainment committee of which Miss Teresa Sonntag is chairman. The next regular meeting of the club will be on Tuesday, Jan. 15, at Appleton Womens club.

SANTA CLAUS TO BE GUEST AT R. N. PARTY

The annual Christmas party for members of Royal Neighbors and their children will be held at 7:45 Thursday evening at Odd Fellow hall. About 44 children are expected to be guests at the party, at which a Christmas tree, and a visit from Santa Claus will be features. The adult members will exchange gifts and Santa Claus will distribute gifts to the children. Mrs. George Hogreiver and Mrs. John Lueders will be in charge of the children's entertainment and the meeting itself will be arranged by members of the social committee for the month.

Mrs. Lillian Hinchcliff is chairman of the committee and members are Laura Pierce, Minnie Miller, Frances Bauer, Effie Vanderlinden, Myrtle Langedyke, Mary Collins, Ellen O'Connell, Adeline Meehl, Lula Taylor, May Muske and Lila Thompson.

SHEET METAL WORKERS NAME FISHER HEAD

Officers of the Sheet Metal Workers, Local 403, were elected at a meeting Monday night. They are president, William Fisher; vice president, Charles Fisher, recording secretary, Len Schreiter; financial secretary, John Vost; treasurer, John Lueders; trustees, Herman Haak and William Lueders; guard, John Green; conductor, Peter DeBruin.

CLUB MEETINGS

Mrs. Herman Selig, E. Johnst, was hostess to members of the Four Leaf Clover club Tuesday afternoon at her home. Two tables of schafkopf were in play and prizes were won by Mrs. August Knoll, and Mrs. Joseph Schultz. There will be no meetings of the club until after Christmas.

The meeting of the Four Square schafkopf club which was to have been held Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lyman, 744 E. Hancock-st. was postponed. The meeting will be held after Christmas.

Four tables of cards were in play at the Christmas party for members of Women of Mooseheart Tuesday afternoon club Tuesday afternoon at Mooseheart temple. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Philip Kreutzer, Mrs. Robert Abendroth and Mrs. Kate Leith. Mrs. August Haferbecker, Mrs. David Brettschneider and Mrs. Louis Lohman won the prizes at bridge.

Mrs. A. Burmeister, N. Lawest, entertained members of the Tuesday Schafkopf club at a Christmas party Tuesday afternoon at her home. Two tables of schafkopf were in play and prizes were won by Mrs. Alfred Schabo, Mrs. Charles Schultze and Mrs. Arthur Schroeder. Mrs. Elmer Schabo will be the hostess at the next meeting on Friday afternoon, Dec. 28.

The meeting of the General Review club which was to have been held Tuesday at the Candle Glow tea room was postponed because of illness of the members. No date has been selected for the next meeting.

A regular meeting of the Charles O. Baer camp was held Tuesday night at the armory. Robert Forster was in charge of the meeting. The annual Christmas party for members of the Charles O. Baer camp and the Auxiliary to the Spanish War Veterans will be given Friday night at the armory.

Mrs. William Korte, W. Spencer, entertained the Tuesday club at a Christmas party Tuesday at her home. A dinner was served at 1 o'clock followed by cards. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. John Woehler, Mrs. George Spoerl, Mrs. Robert Grundtman and Mrs. H. Teske.

U. W. Students Return To City For Holidays

WITH the closing of the University of Wisconsin last Friday the influx of college students for the Christmas holidays began earlier than was expected. Most Madison students returned over the weekend. Among those who came Saturday were the Misses Eunice and Beatrice Segal, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Segal, 729 E. Washington-st. who are sophomores; Frank Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. ## LODGE NEWS

Norton J. Williams, of Neenah, past president of the Wisconsin State Moose association, will be one of the speakers at the annual Christmas party for members of Loyal Order of Moose and their families Sunday evening at Moose temple. The Rev. F. L. Schreckenberg also will give an address.

Final report on the party was made by social committee, at the meeting Tuesday night at Moose temple. The program will include recitations and musical numbers by children of the Moose, distribution of gifts to all the children by a Santa Claus, and a Christmas tree. Refreshments will be served after the program. Candidates for membership were balloted on at the meeting.

There was no meeting of the Fraternal Reserve association Tuesday night, as was scheduled, because of the illness of many of the members. Dancing parties for members will be held on Jan. 16 and Jan. 29 at Odd Fellow hall.

Members of Delta chapter, Employees Mutual Benefit Association and their children will be entertained at a Christmas party at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at Odd Fellow hall. A short business session will precede the party. Mrs. Claude VanAble will be in charge of the arrangements and Mrs. Charles Vanderlinden will have charge of the children's program.

Cards and dice will be played at the Christmas party for the Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at Eagle hall. A chicken lunch will be served after cards and gifts will be exchanged.

There will be a meeting of John F. Rose chapter, Order of DeMolay, at 7:30 Thursday evening at Masonic temple. There will be initiation of candidates.

A regular meeting of Knights of Pythias will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night at Castle hall. Final plans will be made for the Christmas party, Friday evening and the annual dinner dance on Jan. 1.

Knights of Columbus will meet at 8 o'clock Thursday night at Catholic home. This will be a regular business meeting.

Each person at the Christmas party for junior and adult members of the Womens Benefit Association Tuesday night entertained with a reading, a musical number or a stunt. Seventeen Juniors and twenty one adult members were present. A Santa Claus distributed gifts and Christmas bags. Mrs. Amy Hoffman was in charge of refreshments, Miss Helen Kobussen was chairman of the arrangements, assisted by Miss Rosella Kobussen, junior supervisor. The Appleton Review has been given to attend a Christmas party invited by the Neenah review Thursday night.

ADVERT SERVICE

A special advent service will be held at Mt. Olive Lutheran church at 7:45 Wednesday evening at the church. The topic of the sermon will be Two Thoughts Concerning the Second Coming of Jesus which Make the Christian Jubilant.

Mrs. June Anderson is critically ill at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Masons To Greet 1929 With Party

FINAL arrangements for the informal New Years eve dance Monday evening, Dec. 31, were completed at the monthly meeting of the Masonic activities committee Monday night at Masonic temple.

Decorations in keeping with the holiday spirit will be arranged by a committee of which E. R. Furstenberg is chairman and A. T. Gardner and Robert Sheppard are members.

Frank Harriman is arranging for serving punch, while Mrs. E. A. Morse will be in charge of the buffet lunch. The program for the evening will be under the direction of a committee of which Frank Wheeler is chairman. The plans of the committee include a number of new novelty dances and distribution of favors to the dancers.

L. H. Everlien is chairman of the general committee, assisted by Mrs. T. A. Gallagher, Mrs. E. A. Morse, Guy Barlow and Lacey Horton. Gib Horst orchestra has been engaged to play the program of dance music for the party to which all Masons, members of Eastern Star, White Shrine and DeMolay have been invited.

A musical program was presented at the social meeting of the Men's Missionary club of Zion Lutheran church Tuesday evening in the assembly room of the school. Harvey Kuschel sang a solo, a group of selections were presented by a quartette composed of Robert Timm, Herman Toek, Harvey Kuschel and Alfred Kolberg and a trio, composed of Lawrence Palm, John Tornow and Henry Stadl, sang a group of songs. Mrs. Robert Timm played the accompaniment. About 20 members were present at the meeting, at which the hosts were William Egger, Otto Sager, William Pirner and Edward Brinkman. The next meeting will be Tuesday, Jan. 15, at the school hall.

The Christmas party for the Womens Foreign Missionary society of First Methodist church was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. S. Naylor, 417 N. Durkeest. The program was under the direction of members of the cabinet and officers and consisted of a mystery play. The Christmas offering was presented at the party.

There will be a meeting of the Young Ladies Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Theresa church at 7:30 Thursday evening in the parish hall. Miss Marie Kessler, recently elected president, will preside at the meeting. The business meeting will be followed by a program.

Earl Evans, and Miss Agnes Bourassa. Mrs. Evans was in charge of the arrangements for the party which was the first of its kind ever given. In all probability it will be made an annual event. Guests of the office girls were Miss Clara Heiss, Mrs. Harold Hamilton and Miss Eleanor Foster. Others present were Miss Catherine Pardee, Miss Myrtle Krueger, Miss Elizabeth Schimpf, Miss Leona Lawsten, Miss Theodora Steidl and Miss Florence Bustlett.

The Appleton Riding club held its annual Christmas party Tuesday night at the club on S. Onedast. About 25 riders and a number of visitors attended the party at which games were played. Prizes were won by Betty Buchanan, Polly Smiley, Carl Baldwin and George Baldwin. The ring was decorated with holly wreaths and Christmas trees. The appearance of a Santa Claus contributed to the atmosphere of the Christmas party.

Miss Emily Datchet, W. College-ave, was the hostess at a Christmas party for a group of friends Tuesday evening at her home. Bridge was played and prizes were won by Miss Marian Steffen and Miss Josephine Fetterer.

POST-CRESCENT EMPLOYEES ENJOY YULE GATHERING

With a Santa Claus who faltered not once the stupendous task of presenting 150 gifts, a song leader who made people with colds forget their husky throats, and a Christmas tree that reduced the size of the Elks hall to a diminutive size, employees of the Appleton Post-Crescent and their families and friends enjoyed the annual Christmas party Tuesday evening.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock after which H. L. Davis, business manager of the Post-Crescent, gave a brief talk commending the employees for their great spirit of co-operation. Singing of Christmas songs was led by H. K. Derus and St. Nick was impersonated by Henry Tiltman. Music for dancing was furnished by the Broadway Entertainers.

REALIZE $300 SO FAR FROM SALE OF SEALS

Seal Committee Hopes to Raise $700 in Kaukauna in Present Campaign

Kaukauna—About $300 has been turned over to Mrs. H. E. Thompson, who is in charge of the sale of Anti-Tuberculous Christmas seals. The committee hopes to realize $700. No quota has been set for the city this year but the returns from the sale last year amounted to $370.

There is only one more week before Christmas for the sale of the stamps. The drive started on Thanksgiving and will close Christmas day. Mrs. Thompson urges all those who have bought seals and have not yet turned in the money to do so before Christmas. If this is not possible, it should be sent in as soon as possible after Christmas.

Except for a few of the larger solicitations in the mills and school, the drive was carried on through the mail. Envelopes containing a certain number of stamps were sent out and if the party wished to keep the stamps he sent in his remittance. Otherwise he returned the stamps.

One half of the money obtained from the sale of the stamps is used in the city for the promotion of health purposes. The other half is sent to the state where it is used in health campaigns, health plays and free chest clinics which are conducted in many cities in the state every year. A year around educational health campaign is carried on through the newspapers, lectures and exhibits. A health magazine, "The Crusader," is also published by the department.

LIBRARY TO REMAIN OPEN FRIDAY NIGHT

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Free Public Library will be open Friday evening instead of Saturday evening this week, according to notice given Tuesday by Miss Kathryn Hornbrook, librarian. The library will be closed on Monday evening, and will be open from 2 to 10 o'clock Monday afternoon. The library will be closed all day Christmas.

A number of selected books on Christmas and with Christmas stories have been put on a separate shelf by the librarians. These are being used much by readers, according to the librarian.

ASSOCIATION SHIPS CATTLE ON TUESDAY

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Livestock association shipped cattle Tuesday from Kaukauna at the shipping yards at the west end of Third st. This is the last cattle that will be shipped before Christmas. Charles Grode, manager of the shipping association, announced Tuesday that there would be no cattle shipped on Tuesday, the regular shipping day, but the shipping would be done on the Wednesday following Christmas. The shipping day which falls on New Year's day will be postponed until Wednesday, Jan. 2.

VOCATIONAL DIRECTOR IS CONFINED TO HOME

Kaukauna—William T. Sullivan, director of the Kaukauna Vocational school, is confined to his home with illness. Mr. Sullivan returned Monday from Philadelphia, Pa., where he attended a meeting of the American Vocational association. He became ill on the way home.

FIRST NIGHT SCHOOL UNIT CLOSING FRIDAY

Kaukauna—The first unit of night school being conducted in the city by William T. Sullivan, director of the Kaukauna Vocational school, will end this week Friday. The second unit will start on Monday, Jan. 7. The closing of the first unit will continue with the same class members. New memberships for the second unit will be taken at the office of Director Sullivan in the municipal building.

"Y" VOLLEYBALLERS TO PLAY KIMBERLY TEAM

Kaukauna—Y. M. C. A. Volleyballers will scrimmage with the Kimberly Athletic club Wednesday evening in the Normal school. The Kimberly team is one of the Y. M. C. A. tournament teams which the local team will play in January. The practice game will give the Kaukauna team a chance to show how strong it is, as the Kimberly team was a tournament champion.

CALLS DEPARTMENT, BUT NO FIRE IS FOUND

Kaukauna—The local fire department received a call about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning to the home of W. Wolf on Canal-st. but failed to find a fire. Mrs. Wolf smelled smoke and called the department.

Let us test your Christmas tree lights. LANGSTADT ELEC. CO.

"STOP THAT TICKLE"

Woman Writer Finds Cal Can Be A Wisecracker

BY ALLENE SUMNER

Washington—It may not be epochal news, but — my first interview with Calvin Coolidge, president of these United States of America, brought forth the fact that he had hair on his pin-striped blue serge suit — two hairs, to be exact — that his hair is red (so were the ones on his suit) — that his sense of humor has been most undisturbed, and that one can imagine him a swell wisecracker if freed from a few inhibitions due to the dignity of his office.

"Interviewing" the president is not exactly an exclusive affair. The game begins with a doughty uniformed policeman at the door of the executive wing. He very politely opens the door but he fixes one with a glittering eye that says "thus far — out, thou go and no farther till I know whence you came and why."

He is quite accustomed to the answer, "I want to see the president." He hears that several hundred times a day. He separates the sheep and the goats — those who are armed with letters from their congressmen and are to shake the presidential paw at high noon and those who can't just see him anyhow.

Proper identification, registration in the press book, and introduction to the chairman of the White House reporters gives one permission to attend a press conference, which is as near to "interviewing" the president as even, the loftiest come — and they say that the president has pointed out from time to time that he is under no obligation to be even that accommodating, and that if the newspapers boys and girls don't stop yowling for more and bigger favors he may do as his predecessor Wilson did and not even see them for five minutes at a time twice a week.

Pat McKenna, chief door-man and sergeant-at-arms for the executive officers, claps his hands much in the manner of Aladdin summoning the genies of the lamp. Three minutes past 12. Three minutes late.

The 30 or more reporters, all of the male persuasion but your humble author, begin surging forward like lambs to the slaughter. They are strangely silent. One senses that this is no time for wassail and revelry.

The crowd pushes us into the inner sanctum — the president's private office. I find myself bumping the most famous desk of the nation — peculiarly orderly. I note that the paper clips are arranged in a design on a tray, and that even the business pins follow a pattern on their standard.

There is a flint arrowhead, a hunk of sparkling mineral, a pile of New York newspapers, some pens and pencils and erasers and baskets for correspondence, a small flag on the desk, and a larger and beautiful silk flag on the floor at the right-hand corner of the desk. Some rather inexpensive book ends of the Parthenon hold a few books and pamphlets.

Somehow that desk humanizes the president. It symbolizes him as a working man, an office drudge who must get to his desk on time every morning, who has his clear-cut definite routine work ready for him — just another man with a job.

The sandy-haired man behind the huge desk does not look up as the pack falls in.

The oval-shaped room looks out through three French bay windows into the garden behind. The huge windows form a niche in which is the presidential desk. The walls are of green velvet matching the two-shaded green china lamp on the presidential desk. A charcoal of a head of Lincoln, a map, and the map of the United States are on the wall in the room. Everything focuses to that desk and the man behind it.

It is a room fit for a De Mille movie — a rather garish, boudoirish, unbusinesslike room for a president's office. One keeps feeling that he should leave that desk, open the French windows, take a John Gilbert pose before the stone steps leading down into the garden, register romance. But —

The man in the blue suit is rising. He reads some question before him. His answer bristles with the Yankee twang that says "aout" and "daown" and "taown."

"If I had wanted to give you anything about this I would have given it out a long time ago, and until I do give it out there'll be nothing out about it."

No argument. Pencils scratched. Once in a while a sly smile and —

"Better ask Congress about that — they know more about that than the president."

A touch of sly humor at the end. The president removes his shell-rimmed glasses, holds them deftly twixt two fingers, and opines:

"Well, you'll be busy with big news in Congress today. Guess that'll give you copy. You'll need me more some other day."

Turning, one sees the redheaded president really standing in the triple window, looking into the sun-drenched back yard. Then he glances at the clock. Twelve. A long line of people are waiting in the corridor to shake hands, so that they can add one more presidential paw grip to their collection.

Japanese "Talkies" Were Used Long Ago

Tokyo — (AP) — Japanese motion pictures theatres have a good claim to leadership in this "talkie" business. At least they have employed the main idea for years, in having a running fire of speech accompanying the film. This is furnished by a school of artists peculiar to Japan, known as "katsuben," or "movie-explainers."

Although domestic movies have made considerable progress in Japan, the foreign-made, especially the American, film has always been most in demand. When foreign pictures were introduced it was obvious that the audiences could not follow the story, "titled" in a foreign language and showing motives and points of view alien to Japanese minds. So the "katsuben" came into existence.

These gentry, standing behind pulpit-like desks beside the screen and gesturing with a fan, have a wonderful flow of talk, sometimes merely explaining the action, other times entering into a rapid-fire dialogue, changing the voice to suit each character. The institution was further developed to something like the new "talkies" when four or five "katsuben" were employed simultaneously when big native film dramas were shown, each assigned a leading character. Japanese actors, with a sense of synchronization highly developed by their own puppet plays, proved adept at fitting suitable words to the silent drama from abroad.

By means of X-ray Hadley has caused more than 500 eggs to hatch into hen-chicks. Roosters were entirely eliminated in the process. His "electrical treatments," it is claimed, also speeds up growth and eliminates diseases in the flock.

FRANCE WONDERS WHAT HOOVER MAY DO ABOUT TARIFF

Hope for Softening of Regulations on Values on Imports from France

BY S. F. WADER
Paris—(AP)—French business men and political leaders are awaiting with much interest the disclosure of the tariff policy of the new administration in the United States. They expect no particular relief in the way of reductions of duties on French products, but they hope for some softening of the regulations whereby values are put on imports from France. The remark is often made in political as well as business circles that if present methods of appraising French goods, and hygienic rules that hinder the export of French agricultural products to America continue, it will be difficult for France to meet payments coming due on war debts. The two countries seem to have reached a deadlock on the question of appraisals of French goods. The action of treasury agents in France, investigating the cost of French exports by consulting the books of the manufacturers, was, it is now said by exporters, scarcely less objectionable than the arbitrary values put on French goods at the custom house. They are such, experts say, as practically to throttle some lines of the export trade. The French proposed as a compromise that the American government pick out French experts to appraise costs. The United States government rejected this proposal, and the matter now stands where it did when the treasury agents were withdrawn. Meanwhile, the proposed negotiations for a complete commercial agreement between the two countries stand in abeyance.

STAGE And SCREEN

"RED LIPS" SHOWS SPEEDY COLLEGE LIFE OF TODAY

The tendency of girls and boys of today to vie with each other in the pursuit of pleasure is touched upon with accurate psychology in "Red Lips." Universal picture of ultra-modern college youth which will open here at Fischers Appleton Theatre Thursday with Charles Rogers and Marian Nixon in the starring roles. The picture presents the contrast of a youth of unusually high ideals who falls in love with a girl whose philosophy of life is of the most extremely modern type. They are both of college age, the susceptible period, and the girl's love of pleasure exerts a marked influence on her companion. Cynthia and Buddy are saved from themselves when the boy's companion takes a hand. Youth has been depicted on the screen with real truth in "Red Lips," according to critics. Director Melville Brown has set the glamorous side of college and university life before screen audiences with sincere understanding. "Red Lips" is from a story by Percy Marks, author of "The Plastic Age," sensational college-life novel of last season.

"DREAM OF LOVE"

Joan Crawford plays the role made famous by the great Sarah Bernhardt in "Dream of Love," which is now showing at the Elite theatre as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature. The screen presentation is an adaptation of "Adrienne Lecouvreur," famous old French play that was used by Bernhardt as a starring vehicle for many seasons. Fred Niblo directed the modernized version from Dorothy Farnum's scenario. In the film version the setting is laid in a mythical and picturesque Balkan kingdom. It tells of the love romance between a wandering gypsy maid and the royal heir to the throne. They meet at a circus carnival and after a night of love are parted by the inexorable law which says that a member of royalty cannot wed a commoner. How the status of each undergoes a change, how they raise to heights of dramatic passion and sacrifice, makes a play of unusual power and charm. Miss Crawford is featured with Nils Asther in the brilliant film offering and the elaborate supporting cast includes Aileen Pringle, Carmel Myers, Warner Oland and many others of note.

Glenn, of Illinois, taking the place of Senator-Elect Smith, who was unseated.

Christmas May Cost Country 200 Million

BY VICTOR H. SCALES
New York—(AP)—Money is flooding into the country's great centers of distribution in preparation for a Christmas demand for currency estimated at $200,000,000 to $400,000,000. The movement represents a seasonal flow, one of those recurring waves which carry money always to the point of demand and usually return it in the backwash. Bankers say money thus is always moving, sweeping across the country and back in seasonal movements. Demands for funds for crop planting and harvesting draw money from the city to the country in the spring. Demands for purposes of transportation, manufacturing and distribution draw it back to the cities. Seasonal activities in essential and seasonal industries also exert a drawing influence on funds, and there is even a sizeable "hot dog wave," a summer movement, which draws funds from city banks at the end of one week and brings it back from resort banks about the middle of the following week. "Crop demand" is one of the first big motivating influences of the year, making itself felt chiefly in the cotton growing areas of Texas and the farm lands of the middle west and northwest in the spring, when farmers borrow funds from their local banks to buy seeds, plant the crop and prepare for its raising. Local banks lend to the limit of their own resources, then call upon city banks for funds. The tightness or credit thus created finally is relieved by a flow of funds, or of credit, from the nearest federal reserve bank an arm from the big banks of the east. As harvesting time draws near the farmers sell their crops for cash, pay off their debts to the bank and a new money movement sets in. The banks in turn repay the larger institutions, while the credit strain now falls upon the manufacturing centers, especially New York and New England, whose corporations have purchased the raw material for cash. The banks of the industrial east now supply funds, while the banks in the agricultural districts, flush with cash and eager to put their surplus funds to work, invest in the acceptance and commercial paper of the manufacturers. The crops usually mature in succession, so that a steady movement

RUSSIA FAVORS U. S. INDUSTRIAL PLANS

American Engineers Acting as Consulting Agents in New Enterprises

Moscow—(AP)—The steady growth of Soviet-American economic relations has been summarized in a series of articles published by Economic Life. It is pointed out that several American firms and a number of individual engineers are acting as consulting agents and participating in new Soviet enterprises. One American mining firm has been working for two years in the Don basin. Two other firms have cooperated in an extensive survey of the southern railroads and ports. A Chicago company signed a contract with the central metal administration of the supreme council of national economy providing for an examination of factories and workshops. This concern is organizing in Leningrad a technical branch for permanent consultation on manufacturing projects. Several Americans are participating as advisers in the construction of blast furnaces and the manufacture of colored metals. A number of American firms are cooperating in the development of Soviet enterprises for the making of machinery. Important electrical developments are being pushed forward with the aid of the General Electric Company. Other American groups are cooperating in the manufacture of large-scale refrigerating plants, paper and celluloid enterprises, glass making and oil refining. Approximately 300 Soviet specialists have been sent to the United States in the past three years for the study of American industry.

PROBE ORDERED AFTER WIVES TRADE HOMES

Chippewa Falls—(AP)—An investigation into the new arrangement by which two wives left their homes, each becoming the housekeeper in the home of the other, has been ordered by County Judge D. B. Cook. The case involves William Brown and Edwin Heidelberg and their wives. Mrs. Brown was found recently as the "housekeeper" in the home of Heidelberg, where she had taken her children, and Mrs. Heidelberg and children occupied the same status in the Brown home. Both Brown and Heidelberg are farmers, living near here. Judge Cook, before whom the divorce suits of the two couples are pending, has ordered a special investigator to inquire into the circumstances concerning the switch and said he would refuse to admit the cases to trial if it is found to be a case of "wife swapping." Attorneys for the two women plaintiffs in the divorce actions said they would withdraw if the circumstances are as reported. P. J. Murphy, divorce counsel, will investigate for the court.

Paris—(AP)—Ex-convicts have proved to be so unsatisfactory as bankers that the government has introduced a bill to keep them out of the money handling profession. For generations France has had periodical explosions of indignation over big-scale frauds by gentlemen wearing silk hats but with prison records who opened mahogany fitted banks and carried off the deposits. ## FRANCE WILL CREATE ARTISTIC COCKTAILS

Paris—(AP)—Cocktails, once reviled in France as a typically low foreign importation, have become so popular that a French newspaper is backing French-made cocktails against the world. In a recent contest, arranged for charity, first prize was won by a Scotch newspaperman. The newspaper Paris-Midi disagreed with the decision and promoted a new contest, to be held early in December. Huge prizes were offered. The newspapers admitted that the Americans, with their longer experience at mixing, held a strong advantage, but expressed the belief that the traditional imagination and enthusiasm of the French, combined with a stronger artistic sense, would enable a Frenchman to win the title of "ace of the shaker." Old lovers of wine still oppose the cocktail on the ground that, taken before a good meal, the heavy alcohol of its composition numbs the palate and prevent the real appreciation of the delicate wine flavor and bouquet.

BOOST BOND OF TREASURER
TO $100,000

Increase, Recommended by Finance Committee, Approved by Council

Neenah—On motion the city treasurer's bond was raised from $25,000 to $100,000 as a protection during the greater part of the year and during the tax collection time when the treasurer is called upon to handle a great deal of money. The plan to raise the bond was recommended by the finance committee, and presented Tuesday evening to the city council. Little business came before the meeting, which was attended by all officials except Alderman Harder.

A petition signed by a large number of Fourth ward residents asking that a light be placed at the corner of Union and Monroe streets was referred to the committee on streets, highways and bridges. The assessments placed against property owners for the ornamental lighting system installation showed $1.45 a foot on S. Commercial street and $2.59 on Wisconsin street. Water main installation was assessed 50 cents per foot. The assessment was accepted and was so placed upon the tax roll.

The continuation of Stevens street through to Fairview-ave and the removing of the Kriebel home which stands in the center of the proposed street, was favored by the council which authorized the attorney to draw a resolution to that effect. Park-st, which is known as east, west, north and south Park-st, will be renamed Lowden-blvd., carrying the name of the original owner of the land.

The special committee to arrange for a building inspector and establishment of a building line was authorized to bring in a report at the next meeting. The establishing of an ice rink on the island for the use of the skaters in that part of the city was discussed. It is probable that a skating rink can be constructed on the Dory park playgrounds should the site below the dam prove unsatisfactory. Construction and maintenance of the hockey club rink near the bath house was favored and will be so placed as soon as ice freezes.

The application of Anton Krutz for a Class A soft drink license to operate at the place formerly occupied by Edward Maufol, was refused by Alderman Martin, who has the city's cleanliness in hand, reported that water mains have now been laid on some streets where outside toilets were maintained and that now

PAYMENT OF TAXES MAY BE DEFERRED

Plan Is Approved Tuesday Evening by Common Council at Regular Meeting

Menasha—At the midmonthly meeting of the common council Tuesday evening an ordinance was passed making possible deferred payment of taxes again this year. The first payment of 50 per cent of real estate is to be paid not later than Feb. 28, 1929, and the remaining 50 per cent with a fee of 1 per cent is to be paid not later than June 30. All personal property and special assessments must be paid in full by Feb. 28.

A resolution was passed giving the Wisconsin Michigan Power company a certain number of hours to clean up their unfinished work of removal of the interurban tracks in front of the new theatre building and if it is not completed by that time the work will be done by the city and the expense charged up to the company.

City Engineer A. E. McMahon was instructed to prepare plans and specification for paving of Racine and Pine-sts. The width of the new pavement on Racine-st was discussed but no definite decision was reached. Some of the aldermen were in favor of a 40-foot pavement and others were of the opinion that one 34 feet wide would answer all requirements.

The matter of soft drink parlors closing at 6 o'clock Sunday evenings was brought up by Alderman Kolanski and was discussed at considerable length. Upon the suggestion of Alderman Kelly the question will be held open until a joint meeting of the proprietors and aldermen can be called to reach a definite understanding.

Wants Deauville Dough

Mme. Melina Merey, who wears the title of "the belle of Deauville," feels that she has been beautiful but "done"—or, more specifically, M. Diamant, of the French resort, that she offered a 50,000-franc movie opportunity to the winner of a seashore beauty contest. She won the title, received cheers from the crowd and—that was all, she says. So she wants the matter settled on its face value, as it were.

FUR MANUFACTURE IS GREAT INDUSTRY

Commerce Department Report Shows Business Is Growing Rapidly

Washington—(AP)—Fur manufacture in this country has become a $250,000,000 business. A survey of the industry by the department of commerce shows that the number of establishments engaged in the manufacture of fur goods, other than felt hats, has increased from 1,300 in 1914 to 2,000 in 1925, while the number of workers has advanced from 9,000 to 17,000, and the wholesale value of their aggregate product has increased from $44,000,000 to $254,000,000.

Although the Mississippi Valley is rated as the largest fur-producing area in the world and supplies a large proportion of the annual $70,000,000 catch, which is double that of Russia and three times that of Canada, it is necessary to import some $136,000,000 worth of furs and to bring in $4,000,000 worth from Alaska to meet the demand.

Imports come from all sections of the world, only six countries supplying more than $5,000,000 worth yearly.

An export business also has been developed, with the United Kingdom, Canada, Germany and France the best customers. Exports last year were valued at $31,000,000.

Muskrat, opossum, skunk and racoon are the outstanding commercial furs produced in this country, but numerous other pelts enter the trade in small values. Total production, which varies little from year to year, is 12,000,000 muskrat, 8,000,000 skunk and 600,000 to 1,000,000 racoon.

Marked development in fur farming in this country in recent years, the survey adds, has resulted in supplying virtually all fox pelts from domestically bred animals.

FOUNDER OF BADGER VILLAGE DIES THERE

Soperton—(AP)—M. J. Quinlan, 80, a lumberman for more than a half century and founder of the village of Soperton, died early Wednesday at his home here.

Acquiring an interest in the lumber operations of A. C. Soper, Lakeview, N. J., and James P. Soper, Chicago, in 1888, Mr. Quinlan went to Menominee, Mich., and directed the business from there 16 years. He later bought a tract of hardwood timber in Forest and Mannett-cos and operations began in 1905 on a site adjoining the village of Wabeno. A new village sprang up around the plant and was named Soperton, in honor of the Soper brothers.

Mr. Quinlan directed the planning and construction of mills, logging railroad and much of the village. He was active in the National Lumber Manufacturers' association and the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers' association. While at Menominee, Mr. Quinlan was the first grand knight of the council of the Knights of Columbus. He was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters many years. Mr. Quinlan is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Mrs. E. L. Murray, Green Bay, and Mrs. William J. McHale, Soperton; a son John V. of Soperton; a brother, Thomas J. of Soperton and a sister, Selma, Detroit, Mich.

LORD OPENS HAT SHOP Lora—Another man has turned his attention to women's headgear and opened a milliner's shop here. It is Lord Burch, 22, six feet five inches tall and holder of a title that goes back to 1528.

SUNKEN U-BOAT IS LIFTED TO SURFACE

Submarine Sunk in Experiment Stays Under Water for Two Days

Aboard the U. S. S. Falcon, off Block Island, R. I., (By way of the Block Island Coast Guard Radio Station)—(AP)—The submarine S-4, which remained down by the stern of 55 feet of water when an attempt to raise her with new lifting hooks was made Tuesday night, was brought to the surface at 8:47 Wednesday morning. The craft has been deliberately sunk without crew at 8:21 Monday morning.

The vessel was deliberately sunk Monday morning, and after two days of efforts by divers the order to blow empty two huge pontoons, the engine room and the ballast tanks was given at 1:45 Tuesday night. Thirty-five minutes later, after a series of turbulent eruptions of the water over the sunken craft, the pontoons and the great grey bow of the ship loomed into the brilliancy of flood lights on nearby navy ships and the experiment seemed over. But something had gone wrong and despite efforts to drain every floating chamber the ship would not budge its stern from the bottom.

Navy salvage experts believe a great quantity of water eddied into a corner of the engine room compartment stern, which had been flooded by connections to the outside during the experimental sinking where it was beyond reach of a draining valve. In somewhat similar fashion one of three ballast tanks controlled by a manifold emptying valve was believed to have emptied first, leaving the other tanks full when a vent was created as the first tank was drained. Weight of the water remaining in the engine room and ballast tanks, the experts believed, kept the ship down.

STATE HOUSE TO HAVE CHRISTMAS PARTIES

Madison—(AP)—Many Christmas parties are being planned by State House employees, among the principal ones for which invitations have already been sent being the board of public instruction and the secretary of state's office.

The latter office's party will probably be held in one of the principal hotels of the city, with something of a "grand scale" prevailing. Annual parties have been held in the secretary of state department and pictures of the party groups are treasured in the office files.

A feature of the public instruction party will be a good size Christmas tree, with presents for all and an old treadle-type "parlor" organ providing the music for the Christmas carols that will be sung with modern songs. This party is to be held Friday evening.

100 New Players Try For Places On Major League Teams

CUBS APPEAR TO BE STRENGTHENED BY HORNSBY'S COMING

Boston Braves Will Have Flock of New Players at Spring Camp

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York—(AP)—At least 100 ambitious young baseball players will drop in on baseball training camps of the eight national league clubs next spring trying to break into major league box scores. A score of men who have had trials before under the big top will be on hand for another chance and a few stars in the senior loop will be on familiar ground wearing strange uniforms.

The Boston Braves, with a chance to make 19 changes in its personnel, will have the largest crop of new talent. Some critics of the Braves' baseball behavior last season may be unkind enough to say they need it.

In addition to the hard-hitting Hornsby, who came to them by the trade route, the Chicago Cubs have combed the highways and hedges of the minors for untold players and recalled a number who have been found wanting, at least temporarily, in other years.

Changes of clubs as a result of trades have sent Rogers Hornsby from the Braves to the Cubs and transferred Fred Maguire, Percy Jones, Louis Seeger and Harry Siebold to Boston. Pittsburgh gave Glenn Wright to Brooklyn for Jess Petty and Harry Riccio. Tommy Thoenow will take Heinie Sands' place at shortstop for the Indians.

THE NEW RIGHTLEDER
The St. Louis Cardinals will attach fewer players to the club than any other major league outfit but unless plans miscarry two of the infielders brought on from Cardinal farms, Shortstop Gilbert and second baseman Selph, will find steady jobs awaiting them. Two other new Redbirds were recalled, Manager, a catcher, comes from Minneapolis and Herman Bell, right handed pitcher, from Rochester. Elliott from Waco and Hallahan from Houston, are other pitchers.

In addition to the four former Cubs and catcher Pat Collins from the Yanks, the Braves will be privileged to inspect the wares of many new and young youngsters, R. E. James, a second baseman, batted .323, bases and hit 16 home runs for Omaha last season. C. Fitzberger, a first sacker, was recalled from York and E. B. Clark is on his way back from Providence with an impressive batting mark of .373.

Charence Mueller, with Toledo, catcher, comes from A. H. Moore, from Buffalo, G. V. Leverette, a pitcher, from Indianapolis and C. A. Perry, pitcher from Wichita. R. W. Wertz was recalled from Buffalo and C. Touchstone was purchased from Providence.

THE NEW TO PHILLIES
The Phillies have high hopes of Thoenow and some of the promising players developed last year, striking a winning combination. H. H. Peel, from Houston, has a good chance to take an outfield post. E. W. Caldwell, pitcher, was purchased from Waco. Among the recalled pitchers are Decatur, Rochester, Green, Williamsport, Milligan, Syracuse, Baecht, Rochester, P. Collins, pitcher, was drafted from New Orleans.

Charles Tolson, the big first baseman, will be back with the Cubs after batting .351 in 150 games for Los Angeles. Blair, a second baseman, advances from Little Rock Ind. Tom Angley, a hard hitting catcher, will be up from Atlanta. Murphy, another catcher, was purchased from Fort Worth. New outfielders include Kern, Williamsport, Moore, reading, and Taylor, Memphis.

New Chicago pitchers are D. L. Cunningham, Los Angeles; Mike Cavigros, recalled from Wichita Falls, C. Day, Omaha. R. E. Hansen, Elmhurst, J. V. Welch, Reading. E. Holley, Louisville, Barclay Horne, Jersey City.

JESS PETTY AT PITTSBURGH
Pittsburgh, long without a capable left-hander, now has two, Jetty and Lawrence French, purchased from Portland, in the Pacific coast league. Half a dozen other pitchers have been added by recall or purchase, including L. J. Bartholomew, Dallas, La. Chas. E. Ryan, E. Erickson, Boise, L. Mahaffey, Columbia, Spencer, and E. S. Tutwiler, Savannah.

RAZE GREEN BAY BALL PARK FOR NEW BUSINESS BUILDING

Green Bay—The Green Bay Sox ball park no longer will be the setting for Fox River Valley and Wisconsin State league baseball games, for the structure is being razed to make way for a business block. It is believed that the field, known as Bellevue park, is being completely done away with, although twice before the location has been moved.

KIMBERLY CAGERS WIN FROM PULASKI

Papermakers Avenge One Point Defeat of Recent Game

Kimberly—Coach Berger is getting better in his predictions and his team in fulfilling them. They ran away from the jinx that has been following them and Tuesday night beat Pulaski here 20-16.

The Kimberly boys didn't show up very well during the first half and to all appearances they were to be beat. They continually fumbled the ball and lost it to the invaders. They just didn't get going and at half the score was 14-7 in Pulaski's favor. They rallied during the second half and at the end of the third period had held the Pulaski five to 14 and brought their score to 13.

During the last period the teams played a fast game. It was then that the Kimberly boys started to play the passing and defense game they did at Seymour. Vander Valden and Courchane worked out a clever pass, through which three baskets were made. Melvin Schenese showed up well in his new position as guard. Patrick, another member of the short men's league, played a good game. He replaced Bourassa as the leading scorer in the second quarter, and then Kimberly started to score. Bourassa just seemed to be off and couldn't keep hold of the ball. Schwanke filled the position as center.

In the preliminary Lefty's Aces defeated the Y. M. C. A. squad of Appleton 35-18. The game was fast and interesting.

Loughran to Have BUSY WINTER SEASON

Chicago—(AP)—The heavyweight championship of aspirations of Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, have surged to a new height as the result of his victory over "Big Boy" Peter Lyons, New Orleans heavyweight, Monday night.

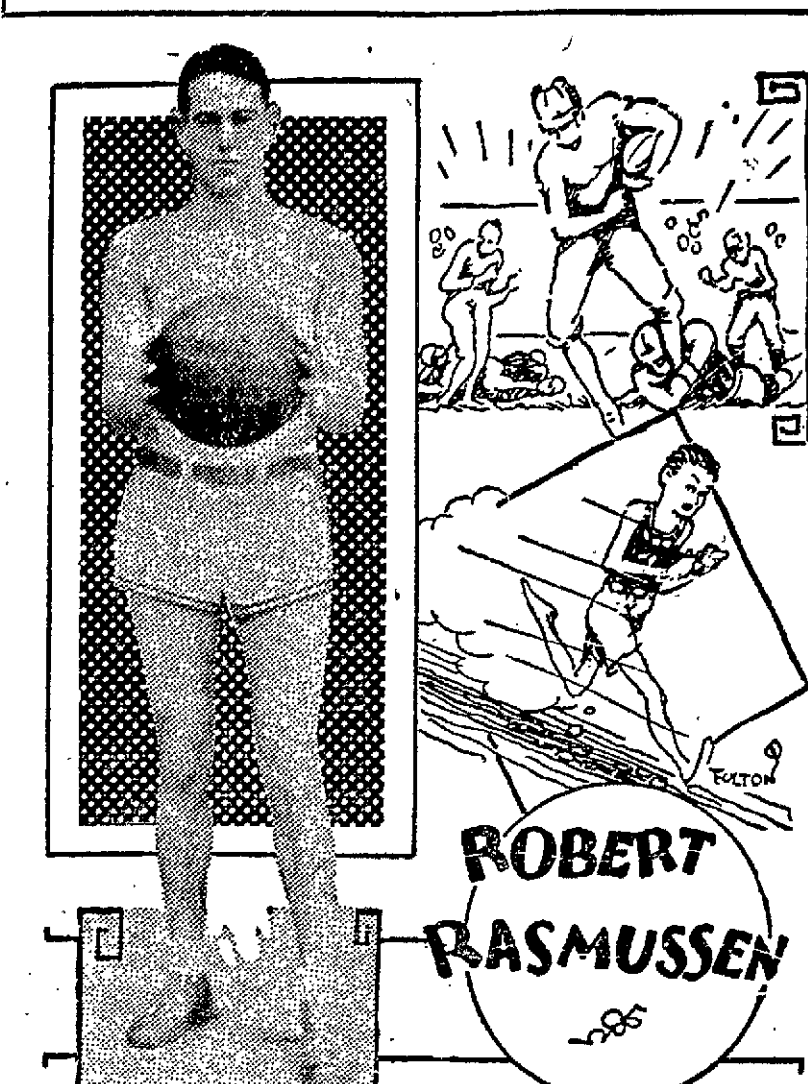

Matches at Boston, Indianapolis, Los Angeles and San Francisco will be arranged to give Loughran a busy winter, his manager, Joe Smith, said.

For third baseman Gilbert, outfielder West and second baseman Rhief. The Robins recalled shortstop Bader, catcher Lopez and outfielders Lee and Tromper from Macon where all were .300 hitters. Frederick, outfielder, was bought from Memphis. Neitzke an outfielder, recalled from Pueblo and Rosenfield, outfielder bought from Birmingham.

N. W. Ballou, Former American league pitcher, was drafted from Milwaukee. W. W. Moore, was purchased from Macon and C. E. Dudley from Atlanta.

THE BIG ICE PITCHER
One day in the club house Buddy, a very friendly soul, said to Bucky: "I'll wrap up the bride some of these evenings and bring her over to your house, Bucky. The women ought to get along together, I think."

Stars in Three Sports

This is Robert Rasmussen, Lawrence college cage star who is the only Viking athlete now enrolled, who has won letters in three major sports, football basketball and track. He is a junior and hails from Ashpurn.

Rasmussen won the official Lawrence "L" as a forward on Coach A.

EAGLE BOWLER GETS HIGH GAME OF 264

Club Will Suspend Bowling Activities for Next Two Weeks

Despite the fact a few poor games were rolled on Eagle alleys Monday evening, members of the league are rapidly rounding into mid-season form. The highest individual game for the entire season was rolled this week when John Moll topped 264 pins Monday evening. He is a member of the Paul Sell's Specials.

On the 7 o'clock shift the Dietzen Daifries took two games from the Selberling Cords, Fred Yelg of the Cords getting high individual series in the match with games of 196, 194 and 141 for a total of 531. Not a member of the Daifries team reached the 500 mark.

The Koester's Sodas took two games from Dick's Five on the same shift. J. Hebler of the Sodas toppling games of 199, 153 and 213 to total 565, while Hy Strutz pounded out a 585 with games of 211, 184 and 190. Ray Koester and Al Boehm of Dick's Five hit 150, 221 and 163 and 193, 186 and 166 respectively for totals of 539 and 547.

On the late shift Paul Sell's Specials took two games from Groth Sport Shops, John Moll getting a 619 on games of 170, 176 and 264. Gibson's Goodyear Boys took two games from the K. Taxis in the other match. Phil Greason, member of the Boys shot a 613 with games of 190, 188 and 235, while Oscar Kuntz of the Taxis hit 258 with games of 179, 149 and 200. Barney Wellhouse of the same squad topped 547 pins with games of 169, 211, and 167.

There will be no league bowling on Eagle alleys for the next two weeks. The schedule will be resumed on Jan. 7, 1929, according to officers.

NAMED RHODES SCHOLARS
Three football stars of the past season have been named Rhodes scholarship winners for this year. They are Al Cornsweet of Brown, Fred Hickman of Minnesota and Robert McKim of Illinois.

And while on that subject, Caustic comment has come our way during the last few days for criticizing the various and sundry members of the Appleton high school basketball team just week. But we'll do it again, and again. Whenever the youngsters show well they're praised for their work, and when they don't show well they're going to be criticized. And the sooner they get over their "kid" characteristics and take criticism in the same spirit it is given, then they'll be just that much better players.

TUESDAY'S RESULTS
K. C., Neenah 31, Fox River 15.
Kimberly Club forfeited to Bankers.

Fox River Paper company basketeers used everything but the water boy in their effort to stop the Neenah Kimberly-Clark team Tuesday night in a Y. M. C. A. Industrial league game. But even a bristling lineup couldn't stop the Neenahites and they triumphed for the third straight time, 31 to 15.

The Neenah five waded in after the opening whistle and started counting field goals while the best of the Fox River team could do was garner a couple of free throws and three field goals. Zingler, Neenah, center led the scoring for his team with four goals and was followed by K. Olson with two. The half ended 18 to 10 in favor of the invaders.

The Fox River team didn't fare as better in the second half for they managed to get only two field goals and a lone free throw. Zingler of the Neenah team had been forced from the game by personal fouls but K. Olson kept up the field goals by getting three. Gaertner dropped one field goal and four free throws to help his teammate.

In the other game scheduled for the evening the Kimberly Club lost to the Citizen National Bank team on a forfeit.

CARROLL WANTS TO MEET GOPHER "B'S"

Vikings Will Play Pioneer's 1929 Homecoming Game at Waukesha

Waukesha—Except for one open date on Oct. 12, Carroll's 1929 football schedule as announced by Coach Norris Armstrong is complete. Negotiations are now under way with Minnesota to card a game with the Gophers B team Oct. 12. If this is not possible, Butler, Iowa, or Northwestern university will be the opposition.

The Carroll mentor is eager to get a game with the Northwestern university B team since the Carroll victory this year over the Wildcats has stirred much interest in a return tilt.

The Pioneers open the season Oct. 5 against Chicago Y. M. C. A. college. Lawrence will be the homecoming opponent Oct. 26 and on the following Saturday Ripon will be the opponent.

Although Beloit is a member of the Little Four conference, the Beloit team will not play Carroll in 1929. Carroll and Beloit have not clashed on the gridiron for five years, although relations have been maintained in basketball and track. A tentative arrangement to play Beloit was made, according to reports, but it was dropped.

The 1929 schedule:
Oct. 5—Carroll vs. Chicago Y. M. C. A. here.
Oct. 19—Carroll vs. Lake Forest at Lake Forest.
Oct. 26—Carroll vs. Lawrence (homecoming).
Nov. 2—Carroll vs. Ripon at Ripon.
Nov. 9—Carroll vs. Northwestern.
Nov. 16—Carroll vs. Lombard at Lombard.

YANKS WILL MAKE DUGAN FREE-AGENT
May Get Job in Majors With Chicago Cubs or Brooklyn

New York—(AP)—"Jumping Joe" Dugan's baseball career, so far as the New York Yankees are concerned, appears to be at an end.

Fine Record

Lafayette, Ind.—Over a course of 10 years, Ward "Piggy" Lambert has the best record of any basketball coach serving in the Western Conference. His Purdue team shared the Big Ten title last season with Indiana and with five lettermen remaining from the championship squad Purdue is rated as a strong contender this year.

Since he took charge of basketball at Purdue Lambert's teams have won or shared four conference championships and only once have fallen below fourth place.

His teams have won 120 out of 169 games played and in Big Ten competition they have won 76 out of 113 games, or more than two-thirds of their engagements.

Lambert's offensive system, a combination long pass and short pass pivot plan, developed some of the best scores seen in the conference. He developed White, Gullion, Spradling and Cummings, who led the conference in scoring in various campaigns and there have been very few seasons when at least one Purdue player was not found on the All-Conference five.

SCHWARTZ' OPPONENT A "BABY FACE" FIGHTER

Paris—(AP)—Emile "Spider" Pladner, the crack French flyweight, who recently out-pointed Izzy Schwartz, was refused admittance as a spectator to a recent fight "because he was too young."

Pladner bears not a single mark or scar on his baby face of his 50 or more ring battles—and looks more like a boy playing truant from high school than the tough little fighter he is.

"You a fighter?" guffawed the hard-boiled doorkeeper. "Where are your cauliflower ears? Run along before I spank you."

Pladner was held up for an hour, and was admitted only when Jeff Dickson, the promoter, personally vouched for him.

Narrow Amateur Rules Cause Of Violations

BY BILLY EVANS
WHAT constitutes an amateur in sports?

Of late, this question has been receiving much serious consideration, as the result of Bill Tilden being barred from the tennis elite because he wrote for pay something about a tennis tournament in which he participated.

Tilden took issue with the tennis body over the decision reached as to his status as an amateur. He was suspended and will not be reinstated until he shows what the tennis association considers a penitent spirit.

Recently I discussed the amateur situation with a famous grid coach, he remarked:
"The honest-sure-enough amateur in sport is a rare species, that is fast dying out. Really, if one heaved strictly to the line, it would be possible to make a case against 75 per cent of the amateurs and prove them professionals."

Athletes, according to amateur rules, are prevented from using their ability in their chosen sport to make money. In other words, they cannot capitalize on their athletic ability unless they want to join the pro class. Yet, by subterfuge these same athletes in many ways receive handsome compensation for doing little or nothing at some other job as a coverup for their sport work.

The trouble with the governing bodies of most amateur sports is the fact they are too narrow minded. The rules and standards they set are so severe that a majority of the amateurs seek to beat them through various forms of deception. In other words, the rules make cheaters out of athletes who are able to capitalize more on their ability in sports than in any other line.

The comment of the famous football coach interested me because during the past summer I have run into a number of conditions which bear out the thoughts expressed above.

From major league baseball scouts I get the information that throughout the country there are many star college players performing on the diamond under assumed names. Many of these players represent the leading colleges of our country, both east and west. A good many of the players are poor boys who, because of their baseball ability, are able to make good money during the summer to aid them pay their college expenses.

I think it is a serious mistake to say a college player cannot play ball during the summer for pay, provided the club he is connected with is no part of organized professional ball. A great many college players are holding down some job that doesn't deserve more than $25 per week as actual work is concerned and are getting three or four times that amount of money simply because they are good ball players. A number of colleges permit summer baseball but they are greatly in the minority. These colleges are to be commended for their broad mindedness.

Just to show what unpleasant situations can develop from amateur deception I am going to cite the case of a college player only recently reinstated into the good graces of organized baseball.

This player, a member of one of the leading Pacific Coast colleges, started on a tour of the east in a dilapidated "flivver." Reaching the middle west, about half way to his destination, the "flivver" showed signs of needing repairs and the bank account was low.

The coast star decided he would use his baseball ability to earn some money. He signed with a team in the Mississippi Valley League under an assumed name and played long enough to get the desired money. His work impressed the manager of a team in a league of higher classification and he was bought for $1,000. Shortly after the sale of the player was announced he disappeared.

A few years later, after graduating from college, this same player was sent to the New York Giants for a fancy figure and later turned over to an International League club for more experience. After a season in that league, in which the player showed big league ability, it was discovered by chance that he was the same player who had signed in a "push" league under an assumed name. He was suspended for a year as a result and has just completed his sentence and returned to the team that bought him.

GEORGIA TECH TO GO WEST THURSDAY

Southern Champions Meet California New Years Day

Atlanta, Ga.—(AP)—Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets donned uniforms for their last practice at Grant Field Wednesday before entraining Thursday afternoon for Pasadena, Calif., and their Rose Bowl engagement against California's Golden Bears.

Tech will have seven full days of practice after reaching Pasadena before the New Year's day football classic—enough, thinks Coach Bill Alexander to acclimate and condition his charges.

But the unusual variety of temperature here since practice started this week, indicates little acclimating will be needed. Monday was warm and sunny, while Tuesday was cold and clear, prompting a fast workout at Grant field. Coach Alexander continued to send his two varsity squads through signal paces, while a third team continued to learn Bear plays for use in scrimmage probably Wednesday.

Wadley and Herron were put through all the passing combinations in the jacket repertoire, indicating that Alexander expects to use strategy against California similar to that which knocked Vanderbilt off the top rung in the southern conference in mid-season.

MEN WHO GUARD THEIR HEALTH SMOKE CIGARS

"Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien Famous Physical Culture Expert Advises Men Who Smoke, to Smoke Cigars

JACK O'BRIEN has conditioned more prominent men and reduced more prominent waistlines than any man living. He advises men who smoke to smoke cigars. "Altho I have never used tobacco in any form I've noticed that soon after a man switches from other forms of tobacco to cigars," says "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien, "his wind improves, his nerves steady and he has more endurance, and so tires less easily than before."

A cigar is smoked for taste—slowly and leisurely—one is not lighted from the butt of another, so cigar smoking never degenerates into a nervous habit. And the fine, full flavor of a cigar can be enjoyed without inhalation.

To quote a prominent New York specialist: "The principal reason for throat troubles amongst smokers is the burning, drying effect of hot tobacco smoke upon the tender tissues of the throat. Cigar smoke is cool, since the tobacco burns slowly and is further cooled and filtered as it is drawn through the body of the cigar."

Make this test for a week—smoke cigars exclusively and you will find yourself feeling better, with no cough or throat irritation, improved nerves, increased vitality and less of that tired feeling. To really test cigars, with justice to yourself and to cigars, we suggest the test be made with La Palina.

HOPPE HAS CHANCE AT BILLIARD TITLE

World's Three Cushion Title Has So Far Escaped His Grasp

Chicago—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, who, for almost a quarter of a century, has been winning billiard titles, Wednesday night gets a chance to win the only one that has escaped him—the world's three cushion crown.

Steady and yet spectacular, Hoppe has stroked his way to two triumphs in the championship round robin tournament at Orchestra hall, winning the right to meet the defending titleholder, Johnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo., in the deciding match Wednesday night.

Ralph Greenleaf, New York has clinched at least a tie for the pocket billiard championship, which he is defending at the two-title tournament, Victorious in his two matches, Greenleaf alone remains undefeated. Should he be upset Wednesday night by Frank Taberski, Schenectady, N. Y., in the final match, the least he can get is a tie. Taberski, Pasquale Natalie, and Edwin Rudolph, his challengers, have been defeated.

In meeting Layton for the title, Hoppe has an opportunity for revenge. In the championship tournament here last spring, Hoppe came to the championship finals with the Sedalia fisherman but was defeated.

The defeat of Taberski by Pasquale Natalie, Baltimore, 87 to 125, Tuesday night was the upset of the three cushion play. Conceded to be the only one seriously to threaten Greenleaf's crown, Taberski fell before Natalie's great shots and was behind all the way. The upset makes possible a triple tie for the pocket billiard title. If Taberski defeats Greenleaf and Natalie defeats Rudolph, who is out with two defeats, the three will be tied with two victories and one defeat each.

In the final matches Wednesday and Wednesday night, Rensel meets Copulos for third place, and Hoppe clashes with Layton in three cushion, while in pocket billiards, Rudolph meets Natalie and Greenleaf meets Taberski.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

THAT asked Bob Zappke in Atlanta what he thought of Pomerene, the Michigan tackle who got on so many All-Americans. And the Illinois coach gave a good line in return. "I had heard so much about him," he said, "that I watched him particularly when Michigan played us. And the only time I saw him he was offside." Wes Fesler, Ohio State's All-American end, made the variety basketball team without a trial. So did Holman, the quarter-back, who won't be allowed to play any more football at Ohio. Even if the Conference did say he was okay. Professor French of the Ohio athletic board was asked if Holman would play again. "And he answered, 'I can count three. One year at Parsons. One year at Iowa State. And one year at Ohio State.'"

John Sherwin, president of the board of the Union Trust Company, the money corner of Cleveland, may quit his job. So that he can watch the Indians in every game. He owns a big piece of the Indians.

NORTHWESTERN CAGERS

BEAT NOTRE DAME, 18-14

Chicago—(AP)—Coach "Dutch" Longberg's Northwestern basketball team has demonstrated that it is to be a factor in the Big Ten championship race this season. Although crippled by influenza, the Wildcats Tuesday night defeated Notre Dame, 18 to 14, at South Bend, displaying a pretty defense. It was Notre Dame's first engagement with a Big Ten team this season and the first time Northwestern has defeated the Ramblers of their home floor.

Two other Big Ten teams, Minnesota and Iowa, met and conquered Tuesday night. Minnesota bolted out of its losing streak by defeating Carleton college of Northfield, Minn., 28 to 21, and Iowa won a close one from Washington university of St. Louis, 22 to 18.

IZZY SCHWARTZ HURT IN FALL AT HIS HOME

New York—(AP)—Izzy Schwartz, recognized as flyweight champion by the New York state boxing commission, has suffered injuries to his right leg when he fell down the stairs at his home that will keep him out of action for three weeks, his manager, announces. Schwartz was scheduled to meet Al Martin, a Baltimore, next week but the match is to be postponed for three weeks at least.

ST. JOE GRIDDERS WILL EAT AND GET LETTERS

St. Joseph junior high school gridgers will receive the annual award for their efforts on the gridiron this fall when they meet at St. Joseph hall for a banquet after which letters will be awarded. The youngsters were entered in the Catholic Junior high school league started this fall and won two games and lost two. The dinner begins at 5:30, according to Coach Mel Heinritz.

NICE JOE FOR DIEGEL

Leo Diegel has been signed as professional for the new golf course at Agua Caliente, Calif. He is to get $15,000 a year on his new job, it is reported, and will have all the concessions of the golf shop.

U. W. CAGERS RETURN TO MADISON, DEC. 26

Must Cut Short Holidays to Resume Basketball Practice

Madison—The Wisconsin basketball squad will enjoy a week's recess between their two early preliminary games and the start of a strenuous conference schedule. The Badgers, victorious over Franklin and Pittsburgh, returned to Madison last Saturday night with a 34 to 24 win from the champion Panthers.

Although the Wisconsin student body had dispersed for the Christmas holidays, "Doc" Menzies decided to utilize four days in intensive practice before dismissing his cagers with orders to return on Dec. 26.

Wisconsin must play two more non-conference contests between Christmas and New Year's. Then they have but a few days to polish their attack and defense for the initial Big Ten encounter with Minnesota at Lombard college, Little Nineteen school from Galesburg, Ill., will appear here Dec. 29, while Carleton of Northfield, Minn., will play a New Year's attraction.

Both of these schools play a high calibre of ball and will afford a fair test for the Card sharp shooters prior to embarking upon a Big Ten schedule which includes Purdue, Indiana and Minnesota.

Contrary to the opinion of many fans, the 1928-29 Wisconsin quintet shows promise of mastering the Meanwell system of play as well as did the fast, midjet combination which carried the Cardinal to a third position in the Western conference a year ago. The Doctor's giants should again lead the league in defense. Their scoring to date has been much better than in early games during previous years.

All in all, the Badgers can not be eliminated from title consideration, for this season will undoubtedly contain more upsets than any of the hectic recent ones. Several recruits are taking the spotlight in the prelims, and have even forced a number of Meanwell's vets to the bench.

CONGRATULATE C. OF C. ON NEW AIR MAIL LINE

Three letters from chamber of commerce located on air mail lines in the middle west have been received by Kenneth Corbett, secretary of Appleton chamber. The letters are from Ponca City, Okla., Kansas City, Mo., and Milwaukee and congratulate Appleton on being placed on an air mail line. Mr. Corbett has answered the letters by returning the greeting.

BADGER DIVORCES INCREASE SLOWLY

Calamity Howlers Can Find Little Satisfaction in Wisconsin Figures

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—Marriages and divorces in Wisconsin remained at a comparative stand-still during 1927 instead of decreasing and increasing respectively over 1926 as they did throughout the country, according to figures compiled and released by the Department of Commerce.

Calamity howlers can find little satisfaction in the Wisconsin figures for divorces only increased 2.3 per cent over 1926 in the state while the whole country showed an increase of 6.3 per cent. Total figures give 2,442 divorces in Wisconsin for 1927 as compared to 2,338 for 1926. These figures, however, cannot be used as an accurate basis of comparison with the rest of the country due to the varying populations of the states. Basing the figures on a ratio per 1,000 population, the state only granted 0.84 divorces per 1,000, while in the United States as a whole, 1.62 divorces per 1,000 were given.

On the marriage side, Wisconsin showed an increase of 1.0 per cent over 1926 comparing favorably with a 0.2 per cent decrease for the country. Total figures are 16,818 for 1927 and 16,654 for 1926. In the number of marriages per 1,000 population, however, the state fell, as in 1926, considerably below the figure for the United States. Only 5.76 marriages per 1,000 persons were performed in the state during 1927 and 5.77 during 1926 as compared to the figures of 10.12 and 10.27 for the entire country. Nevada, with its Reno, the Mecca of dissatisfied couples, of course led the country in the ratio of divorces per 1,000 population with the staggering figure of 25.23. On the other hand, it is surprising to note that this state also led in the number of marriages per 1,000 persons with a ratio of 21.0. Nevada, which early in 1927 changed its divorce law to only require three months residence instead of six, takes the championship in the proportion of increase over 1926 in both marriage and divorce. Marriages increased 95.3 per cent and divorces, 91.3 per cent. The low ends of the figures are held by a number of localities. Vermont had a decrease of 35.3 per cent in the number of divorces per 1,000 persons while Florida had a 25.4 per cent decrease in marriages. There were only 0.27 divorces per 1,000 persons granted in the District of Columbia in 1927, while Delaware could only show a rate of 4.7 marriages per 1,000. Announcements of marriages in Wisconsin in 1927 totaled 41 as compared to 44 for 1926. For the whole United States, there were 4,252 announcements in 1927 and 3,825 in 1926.

Book Of Knowledge

"A Christmas Carol"

The Spirit of Christmas Yet to Come showed Scrooge how he might die in misery, with none to mourn his loss. Contrasting this, the ghost drew before the mind's eye of the old man the possible death of Tiny Tim, the crippled son of Bob Cratchit. Tiny Tim, handicapped as he was, would leave scores of sorrowing friends.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1922-26

Scrooge had come to be affected so much by the visions his three ghostly visitors had brought to him that he became a changed man.

In agony he caught the spectral hand of his third visitor, entreating that he be allowed to live to make up for his years of miserable selfishness.

With Scrooge holding its hand in a fierce clutch, the Ghost of Christmas Yet to Come gradually began to fade and shrink. Finally it had vanished, leaving old Scrooge holding on to his bedpost with a frenzied grasp. With the first streaks of morning light, Scrooge awoke. Christmas Day! Eagerly he hurried out of his rooms, intent on making people happy.

WAUPACA COUNTY NEW LONDON-CLINTONVILLE-WAUPACA NEARBY TOWNS

HIGH SCHOOL WINS INITIAL CAGE CONTEST

Both First and Second Red and White Teams Win from Hortonville

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—In their first of the season's games the local Red and White squad defeated the Hortonville high school Tuesday evening, 23 to 8, in a basketball game at Werner's hall. The second team also won from the visitors' secondary team, 17 to 4. Pohland of the home team, led most of the scoring for the home team, getting four baskets while he was in the game. Dayton playing at guard picked openings on the floor and dribbled through the Hortonville defense for four nice shots. Burton, his teammate, made two baskets, while Pfeifer and Black each added one. Dayton, Pfeifer, Burton, Pohland and Black started as New London's lineup, with Dornbach, Sackett and Hohs going in later. Hortonville was guarded too closely to make many shots, and mostly played a defensive game. The score at the half was 13 to 3. Thursday evening Polomus' team played Waupaca at the county seat. Waupaca is reported as having a scrappy team this season and no one-sided score is looked for, as happened in Tuesday's game.

NEW LONDON PERSONALS

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — Miss Clara Block, dean of women at North Central college, Naperville, Ind., and Miss Vera Block, a student in that institution, will arrive Saturday to spend the holiday vacation with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Block. Irene, 2-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lena Marasch, is reported as seriously ill with pneumonia resulting from a cold. Walter Raschke and Mathew Meinhardt spent Tuesday at Milwaukee on business. Mrs. Ida Randall and sons, William and George, motored to Weyauwega Sunday where they attended the funeral of Harold Webb who died at the home of his parents in that village Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Poppy spent the weekend at relatives at Antigo. The latter's father, George W. Hall, who has been visiting in that city for the past two weeks returned with them. The Misses Helen and Vera Cornwall and Earl Cornwall returned Monday from Bethel where they spent the weekend with friends. They were accompanied by Miss Gertrude Barker of Oshkosh, who visited her parents there. Charles Fuerst of Manawa, is a guest this week at the home of his son, Gus Fuerst and family. Mrs. Arthur Wendt and daughter of Appleton, spent Tuesday at the Henry Reier home. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Fuerst motored to Waupaca Wednesday to attend the funeral of their nephew, Noel Eugene Ayres, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ayres of that city. Robert Monsted, who is attending La Crosse State Teachers college, arrived Monday to spend his Christmas vacation with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Monsted.

LLOYD JOST ON STAGE OF MILWAUKEE THEATRE

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The evening edition of a Milwaukee paper on Tuesday carried in its picture section a close up view of Lloyd Jost, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jost of this city, a student at Marquette university, who is appearing this week in a vaudeville skit at the Garrick theatre. The picture shows Mr. Jost and his partner, Miss Caroline Stohling, in a dance sketch from Harlequin.

SHIOCTON MASONS FETE NEW LONDON LODGEMEN

Special to Post-Crescent
Shiocton—Members of the New London Masonic lodge, residing at Shiocton, entertained the members of the lodge at a dinner Thursday evening in the Congregational church basement. The wives of the Shiocton members served the dinner. Following the dinner the members gathered at the Odd Fellow's hall where the evening was spent in playing cards. The Minneola Rebekah lodge elected the following officers at the regular meeting Thursday evening: Noble grand, Florita Kennedy; vice grand, Emma Laird; recording secretary, Ruth Johnson; financial secretary, Eva Towne; treasurer, Pauline Wilcox; deputy, Gertrude Mack; trustees, Clara Fisher; captain, Eva Towne. Harold Donaldson, returned home Saturday from Madison, where he has been attending the university. Miss Edna Mae Town, who attends school at Madison, has returned and will spend the holidays at the home of her parents.

Leema of Green Bay and E. K. Olson of De Pere spent Thursday in the village and also attended the Masonic dinner given that evening. Jumbo Peanuts Roasted Daily Until Xmas. Superior Coffee Co.

This Farm Family Needs Help--And Deserves It

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—In your wild scramble through days filled to the brim with thoughts of Christmas gifts and plans can you pause for an interval to think of a family near you where children will, without your help be without even plenty of satisfying food? This question is one which confronts every citizen, for the notice of a small group of New London people has been brought to bear upon a family much buffeted by hard circumstance and deserving in every regard. A farmer bought a small farm in the vicinity of the city. A mortgage fell due during the recent months and the holder of the mortgage, in order to satisfy the debt due him, took the horses from the barns, the year's crops, poultry, cows, hay and even the stock of potatoes intended for family use. In the home there are eight children ranging from two to ten years. When a neighbor visited the home to ascertain why the children were not attending school the mother informed her visitor that the children were without food to stand the walk to school and were not suitably clothed to venture out in winter weather. Bean soup, made without meat or milk had been their fare for some days past. There was neither flour, sugar or any other food in the house. Asked what the children would have for Christmas the woman replied that her children could not possibly expect any Christmas beyond pencils for the older ones and cheap toys for the little people.

NEW LONDON SOCIETY

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Gruentzel entertained the members of the South Side club Sunday evening. Five hundred was played. Mrs. Willard Dexter and Reuben Gruentzel receiving high prizes, and Mr. and Mrs. Gruentzel receiving low prizes. Following the card game gifts were exchanged among the members and a late lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Russel Koening were guests for the evening. The next meeting will be held at the Charles Eggers home Sunday evening, Dec. 30. The Monday evening five hundred club met this week with Mrs. William Lowewe. At the close of the card game, a informal Christmas party was held, with exchange of gifts and serving of an appropriate lunch. Prize winners at cards were Mrs. Walter Raschke, high, and Mrs. Frank Schoenrock, Jr., low. Mrs. A. E. Polenz will entertain the club at the next meeting.

The annual Christmas party of the Tuesday five hundred club was held this week, Mrs. Henry Reier being hostess. The affair was preceded by the regular club game of cards. Honors were awarded to Mrs. Elder Schoenrock and Mrs. Dina Curtiss. A Christmas tree arranged by the hostess, was laden with gifts, personal favors of the hostess. Gift were also exchanged among the members. A 530 chicken dinner was served, the table being artistically arranged in keeping with the Yuletide occasion. Mrs. Arthur Wendt and daughters were guests at this affair. Club members present were Mesdames Fred Dornbrook, Henry W. Spierbraker, Elder Schoenrock, Frank Schoenrock, Jr., Dina Curtiss Louise Virchow, Edward Roloff, Otto Froelich, Louis Abraham, William Pribe, Jr., Fred Reuter and Arnold Margraff.

CONSIDERABLE ILLNESS IN LEEMAN VICINITY

Leeman—Charles Carpenter, who has been seriously ill the past few weeks in a Green Bay hospital, is reported to be improving. The homes of Martin Olson and Thomas Wilkinson are under quarantine for scarlet fever. The Pleasant Hill school was closed last week on account of illness in the district. Few pupils have been able to attend the Leeman school, and many cases of illness is reported in every district in the vicinity. Miss Marjorie Schroeder returned to Appleton Saturday after spending a few days at her home here on account of illness. Henry Nelson of New London, called at the J. A. Nelson home Saturday evening. Louis Allin of Clintonville, visited local relatives Sunday. L. E. Booth, inspector for Chicago dairy company, made several calls in the vicinity this week. Lester Boman and Claude Nelson motored to White Lake Saturday. Byron Strong and Myron Fields are spending a few weeks hunting and trapping near Eldorado. Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Schroeder daughter Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stenecke and daughter Elsie, and son Lawrence were at Appleton Saturday. J. A. Nelson and daughters Helma and Nora, and son Carl were Sunday visitors at the Henry Nelson home in New London. Mrs. S. F. Greely and sons Marlon and Merl were visitors at the Myron Ames home at Clintonville Friday.

WEYAUWEGA LODGE ELECTS OFFICERS

Special to Post-Crescent
Weyauwega—The Modern Woodmen camp, at a regular meeting Monday evening, elected the following officers for the coming year: Counsel, Edward Richter, advisor, George Stafford; clerk, F. A. Harlan; banker, E. G. Murton; escort, Walter Richter; physicians, Dr. E. H. Jones, E. M. Hunt and F. H. Russell; sentry, Charles Stillman; inner guard, Irving Book; manager for three years, James Haley. Fred Yanke, 51, died Wednesday, Dec. 12, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Daniel Thiel of the town of Weyauwega, following an illness of several years.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Daniel Thiel of the town of Weyauwega, Mrs. Carl Staudenraus of Oshkosh, and Mrs. Emma Kobiske of this city, and one son, John of West Bloomfield; 12 grand children and 4 great grandchildren. Funeral services were held at 1:30 Saturday afternoon from St. Peter Lutheran church. Burial was in Concordia cemetery, West Bloomfield. Word was received here Monday of the death of Mrs. William Schoenicht of the town of Royalton, who died at an Oshkosh hospital.

HOME MAKERS CLUB IS ORGANIZED AT MEDINA VILLAGE

Alice Jamison Is Elected President of New Organization

Special to Post-Crescent
Medina—Mrs. Louis Huebner entertained the Greenville branch of the Economic club Wednesday afternoon. As this was the last meeting of the Economic division, a Home Makers club, under the name of Cedar Grove Home Makers, was organized with Miss Alice Jamison as president and Mrs. H. M. Culbertson, secretary. Meetings in the future will be held the first Wednesday each month. Those present at the meeting were: Mesdames Frank Laudon, Henry Mantel, Harry Nieman, Emil Doell Leo Sweet, H. M. Culbertson, Elmer Gast Ed Kroch and Miss Alice Jamison. The following people are ill with gripper: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Abraham, Mr. and Mrs. August Bottenschek, Mrs. A. E. Cooper Mrs. Theodore Abraham Mrs. Anna Hills, Mrs. Lena Campbell, Shirley Campbell, Laura Yankke, Alice Perkins, Lorraine Lesseloy, Frank Draheim and "Uncle Sol" Looden. Mrs. Ella Siebert was at Antigo last week to attend the funeral of her nephew, Mr. Stone who was killed while deer hunting. The Sunday school of the Methodist church is preparing a Christmas program under the direction of Mrs. Theodore Abraham to be presented at the church, Monday evening Dec. 24. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ray were Plymouth visitors several days last week. Miss Ella Ray of Chilton spent the weekend with her parents here. Mr. and Mrs. George Sanberlich and children of Ellington spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Lillie Ray.

ONE INCH SNOW BLANKET IS LAID OVER FREMONT

Special to Post-Crescent
Fremont—The first snowstorm of winter occurred at Fremont, Tuesday forenoon, when less than an inch of snow fell. The recent mild weather caused the Wolf river to thaw, ice broke up in it and in the mouth of Partridge lake. Cold weather was experienced Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kohls were in Oshkosh Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jasman and family moved to Weyauwega, Monday.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hilberbrand was christened Elsie Mae at services at the St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran church Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mach and the Rev. E. A. Schmidt were in Oshkosh Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zuehlke and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Zuehlke were in Oshkosh Saturday.

CHARLES STEIDL BUYS LEO APEL PROPERTY

Stephensville—Charles Steidl purchased the Leo Apel property and moved in Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Morack and Mrs. H. J. Van Straten were Appleton shoppers Saturday. Miss Lydia Paradise, Appleton, spent the weekend at the McLaughlin home. Mr. and Mrs. William Ladwig, Deilah and Bernice Komp were at Appleton Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jolin and children, Alice Ann and Tommy, spent Sunday at the George A. Jolin home. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McLaughlin sons, Philip, James and Terry, and daughter, Joyce, the guests of Mrs. Mable Paradise, Appleton, Sunday. Joseph Horner, Appleton, damaged his truck Monday evening when it left the road with a load of calves at the junction of highway 76 and county trunk S.

Grow Strong Set Of Wings In 25 Years

BY HAROLD G. MCCOY
Aviation Editor of Cleveland Press
The continent has been crossed by an airplane in less than 19 hours. The Atlantic and Pacific have been hopped, the North Pole skated, the Pacific Ocean flown from San Francisco to Australia, the known world explored. Soon the last uncharted area of the earth—the grim Antarctic continent—will yield to the prying eyes of daring men roaring high above it in throbbing planes. Man has flown 278 miles an hour—more than four and one-half miles a minute; soared to 35,415 feet—seven and one-quarter miles above the earth; remained aloft 65 hours 25 minutes—almost three days. And all this in the 25 short years since the Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur, first demonstrated human flight in a heavier-than-air machine on Dec. 17, 1903.

The giant infant among industries is celebrating this month the 25th anniversary of that flight. Aviation leaders from the four corners of the earth will pay tribute to the surviving brother of the two men who made history on the hard sand dunes at Kitty Hawk, N. C., that winter day 25 years ago. On Dec. 17, the anniversary of that first flight in a flimsy thing of bamboo and wire, they will gather at Kitty Hawk to honor Orville Wright, the Dayton, O., engineer, who helped more than any other man to give the world a new and amazingly fast means of transportation. With them will be America leaders of the industry, Wright, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the other men who have helped to write America's name in the skies.

RECENT DEVELOPMENT

The airplane as a vehicle of commerce is a thing of very recent development. It demonstrated its worth as a weapon in the World War, but it was not until 1927 that Lindbergh's spectacular hop to Paris first opened the world's eyes to its commercial value. In Europe passenger lines had grown in popularity under the spur of government subsidy and the ever-present urge to build up a new arm of defense for their borders. And Americans had looked across the Atlantic and wondered why their nation was falling behind. Was America to lag in the air? Men pondered that question. And then a blond youth leaped out of the unknown across the sea and America joyously, almost overnight, took to the air. The nation became air-conscious almost in a day.

Aviation, which had fought for years to live despite public neglect suddenly began to feel the throbs of new life. Plane and engine factories strained to meet the call. The little band of men who fly plunged into the task of equipping the nation with wings. The boom is only beginning. Airplane manufacturers are grudgingly meeting deliveries months after orders. Engine builders are swamped with demands from an industry which has grown tremendously in 18 months. Manufacturers are rushing the building of additions and wondering whether even these enlarged plants will be able to keep pace with the orders pouring in. Financiers are plunging into the new industry and pouring millions into the building of fast-flying air lines recall the hectic days of consolidation in the infant railroad industry.

MANY LINES NOW

The nation is webbed with a network of airmail, express and passenger lines. Sturdy planes are flying daily in these services 49,654 miles in the United States alone, almost

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF WISCONSIN, COUNTY COURT FOR OUTAGAMIE COUNTY. In the matter of the estate of William Lemke, deceased. Notice is hereby given, that at a special term of the county court to be held in said county at the court house in the city of Appleton, in said county, on the 15th day of January, A. NOTICE TO OWNERS OF HEATING APPARATUS Sealed bids will be received by the County Highway Committee of Outagamie County, Wisconsin, up to 2 P. M. Friday, December 21st, 1928, at the office of the County Highway Commissioner, in the Court House, in the City of Appleton, Wisconsin, for the following equipment:

For a Forced Hot Air Heating System for County Garage. Bidders must furnish plans and specifications covering the work, with a general guarantee of first class workmanship. The Committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids and waive any defects, and accept any bid or bids which may be most advantageous to Outagamie County. Any information in reference to this equipment may be had at the office of the County Highway Commissioner. Dated this 14th day of November, A. D. 1928. By order of the County Highway Committee, A. Disinherited twice the distance round the earth. The nation is girdled with 14,833 miles of airways, 8,000 of them lighted, and 6,000 of new routes scheduled. Airmail planes are flying 20,000 miles daily. Thirty-seven states traversed by commercial air lines, 103 cities served by regularly scheduled flights, with two thirds of the nation's population in the area served!

Because Allen A. Ryan, above, had been estranged for nearly a decade from his father, the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, he received no share of the $250,000 estate left by the financier. He was awarded only two pearl shirt studs. Allan Ryan was financially ruined in a spectacular corner in Stutz Motors in 1920 which resulted in his expulsion from the Stock Exchange. He and his father are said to have quarreled bitterly over the latter's refusal to come to his son's aid.

The financiers find that America, after all, has not lagged in the air: that its planes in 1927 flew 6,000,000 transport miles as against 5,000,000 miles for Germany, 3,500,000 for France, and 2,000,000 miles for England. And foreign countries pay subsidies. Despite all the development aviation in the United States is still only a lusty infant. Very soon great tri-motored transport planes, carrying 14 passengers, two pilots, and a cabin steward, their baggage and a ton of mail and express, will start regular daily service between New York and Chicago. Even now, great air lines of Boeing Air Transport Company are speeding passengers through the air from Chicago to San Francisco. Other networks of air lines reach past the Mexican and Canadian borders. Soon other air lines will whirl passengers down the Atlantic coast and across the Florida straits to Cuba; even along the curving line of the Antilles to Panama and South America.

BIND UP AIR LINES

Great rail systems already have visioned the things this new vehicle

CHINA WOULD RESTRICT BURIAL MOUND CUSTOM

Shanghai—(AP)—The nationalist government is seeking to put a stop to the age-old practice in China of constructing graves in a bit-or-miss fashion over the country-side. For centuries grave mounds have been reared without thought to their possibly obstructing city, roadway or industrial development. The result has been that thousands of acres of valuable land have been rendered worthless because they are dotted with graves, none of which could be moved. According to old belief, graves of human beings were sacred and must not be molested.

PLENTY OF WORK

CLAIM HOOVER IS FOR HANDS OFF ABROAD

Argentine President Quotes Herb as Favoring Non-intervention Policy

Buenos Aires — (AP)—Le Epoca, a newspaper which is generally regarded as a spokesman for President Yrigoyen, said Wednesday that Herbert Hoover in conversing with the Argentine president, told him that in the future that the United States government should not intervene in the internal affairs of other countries, that it would respect their sovereignty and would recognize their rights to manage their own problems.

President Yrigoyen was quoted as saying that he believed that Mr. Hoover was not in accord with the ideas of President Coolidge.

The newspaper said that the subject of intervention by the United States in the affairs of other American nations was brought up by Senator Yrigoyen. Mr. Hoover explained that intervention by the United States had not been undertaken with the design of protecting American economic interests but was for safeguarding the lives of American citizens.

President Yrigoyen was understood then to have referred to views of intervention expressed by President Coolidge in his speeches and Mr. Hoover was said to have replied that Mr. Coolidge had been obliged to proceed as he had done in view of the circumstances of the individual cases.

ON WAY TO BRAZIL

Rio de Janeiro — (AP)—Herbert Hoover was enroute to Rio Janeiro Wednesday aboard the U. S. S. Utah from Montevideo, Uruguay. He is due Friday. Preparations are being made to give him an impressive welcome. A full program of entertainment is being planned for him before he departs on Christmas eve.

The Avenida Rio Branco, the main artery of the city, along which the government buildings, municipal theatres, school of art and supreme court of law are located, will be illuminated in Mr. Hoover's honor. The Stars and Stripes and the Green and Yellow of Brazil will be displayed profusely. Lunches and dinners have been arranged for the party.

There will be a motor trip to Petropolis, the summer capital which is 2,600 feet above sea level. The American Chamber of Commerce at Sao Paulo in the coffee district is sending a large delegation to Rio Janeiro to greet the president-elect.

COLD EPIDEMIC GROWING Milder

Malady Is Subsiding, Survey of Schools and Business Places Indicate

With colder weather still prevailing, health conditions continue to improve in the city, a survey of schools and business places Wednesday morning indicated. This trend is borne out by reports from physicians' offices, who say that the number of patients suffering from colds and grip has decreased enormously in comparison with last week's figures.

About 100 more students, confined to their homes recently by the "cold" epidemic, returned to their classes in the public schools Wednesday. Only 914 were reported absent. This figure is only slightly in excess of normal conditions, according to school officials.

Office and factory forces again are approaching normal conditions, with the big majority of those on various payrolls back on the job again. Last week many business places were seriously handicapped because of the large number of persons absent from work.

The only contradiction to the indication that the epidemic is letting up in its intensity is the report that St. Joseph parochial school closed Tuesday, almost a week before it was scheduled to close for the Christmas recess. As there was rather a large percentage of pupils in the school ill, officials thought it would be best to play safe and close the doors at this time.

However, doctors are discharging more patients daily, and druggists are filling fewer prescriptions than they were a week ago, all of which seems to indicate that the epidemic is subsiding.

How To Play Bridge

BY Milton C. Work

MR. WORK'S POINTERS ON AUCTION BRIDGE

Yesterday the following deal was given:

The question asked concerning it were:

QUESTION No. 1. What should the bidding be at Auction Bridge?

QUESTION No. 2. What should the bidding be at Contract Bridge?

QUESTION No. 3. Which four cards should be played on trick 1?

QUESTION No. 4. Which four cards should be played on trick 2?

THE ANSWERS

1. The Auction Bridge bidding should be: South one No Trump,

North two Spades, South two No Trumps (East and West passing whenever it is their turn to declare). North should show his strong Spades but, when South announces a preference for No Trump, should allow South to select that contract.

2. The bidding at Contract Bridge should be: South one No Trump, North three Spades, South three No Trumps (East and West passing whenever it is their turn to declare). It is a close question whether North should bid two or three Spades, but two would not portray the full strength of his hand.

South, with a count of 17, could have bid two No Trumps initially had all four of his suits been stopped, but not with only three stopped. North bids three Spades instead of two so as to ask South to bid for game and to select either Spades or No Trump.

3. The cards played to the first trick should be: West, Jack of Hearts; North, Five of Hearts; East, King of Hearts; South, Ace of Hearts.

4. The cards played to the second trick should be: South, Deuce of Spades, West, Seven of Spades; North, Five of Spades; East, Trey of Spades. Declarer ducks the first round of Spades so as to insure game if the division of the adverse six Spades be 4-2.

Deal B with questions and answers will be given tomorrow.

VACCINES AREN'T HELD VALUABLE IN PREVENTING FLU

Shun Crowds During Epidemics, Is Advice of Dr. Morris Fishbein

EDITOR'S NOTE: Vaccines and isolation in combating a great epidemic are discussed in this treatise by Dr. Fishbein, the third of a series of four articles on influenza.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

During the 1918 epidemic studies were made of the use of vaccines and serums in the control of influenza, but apparently none of the substances developed was sufficiently potent to warrant recommendation as a routine measure in prevention.

The epidemiologists have made numerous studies in an endeavor to find out just how this disease is passed from one person to another. The conclusion is that the disease is probably spread by coughing, sneezing or spitting, but that in occasional cases it may be transmitted through direct contact by the hands or by sleeping contact.

SHUN CROWDS

The effects of crowding and close association on the spread of influenza, are, therefore, of the greatest importance, and lead to the warning in times of epidemics to remain away from crowds. The prevention of contact with other infected human beings is the only known method of certain protection against infection.

Unfortunately under modern conditions of civilization it is impossible for any human being to avoid contact with others for any considerable period of time. Thus Jordan states:

"It is quite safe to assert that perfect isolation of an individual group during an influenza epidemic constitutes a complete protection against the disease. Indeed, it is possible to go further and to maintain that where, as in most cases, it is not practical to avoid outside human contact altogether, reduction of such contact to a necessary minimum confers some degree of protection, although naturally this is never absolute."

"It is clear that a number of factors, some of them unknown, enter into the causation of epidemic influenza, but the evidence seems convincing that on the one side, seclusion and detachment and on the other general mingling with others, especially if the mingling involves close personal association at meals or in working quarters, are very important determining influences."

This brings up the question of closing the schools. The closing of schools to prevent the spread of infection has been out of favor with sanitarians for some time. An opportunity is afforded in school for systematic inspection and supervision and makes the school ordinarily a safer place for the average child than the unsupervised playground or the street.

Authorities on school hygiene are generally agreed that unless under special circumstances, the schools should remain open even in times of epidemic prevalence of epidemic influenza.

UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES
Exceptional circumstances do, of course exist. For instance, the present epidemic is just preceding the period of the Christmas holidays and several schools have taken advantage of this fact to dismiss their classes one week earlier than usual.

The evidence accumulated during 1918 indicated that there was no convincing proof that the closing of schools had any effect on the spread of the disease. This naturally would apply also to the closing of theaters, churches, moving picture shows and similar places in which a number of persons assemble.

SHOWS FILMS TAKEN IN GERMANY, FRANCE

Films showing scenes of Germany, France and Switzerland taken on his trip abroad were presented by Roy Purdy of the Tuttle Press at the meeting of Rotary club Tuesday noon at Hotel Northern. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday instead of Tuesday noon, and will take the form of the annual Father and Daughter meeting.
